Holland Off Gold Basis Temporarily

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Premier Hendrik Colyn announced over the radio today that Holland was temporarily abandoning the gold standard. The nation, he said, was placing itself on the same monetary basis as between 1914 and 1926. Colyn avoided the word "devaluation" but it is believed a small reduction in the value of the guilder was to be expected. The premier emphasized that in currency dealings Holland will remain completely free. However, the government will utilize a stabilization fund of 300,000,000 guilders to prevent heavy declines in its currency.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The French government introduced its franc devaluation plan into the chamber of deputies today, met a radical insurrection which threatened the solidarity of the cabinet, and defeated a rightist effort to send the legislation back to committee for revision. Radicals, in caucus, voted 32 to 28 to oppose a provision in the proposed law to adjust the national wage scale to compensate for the fall of the franc, although they approved

FIRE VICTIM IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Harry Kygar was reported in a serious condition today from burns suffered in a vain effort to rescue his wife, Cora, 46, from death in a fire that damaged the J. E. Schumacher estate near Van Nuys late yesterday. Mrs. Kygar was buried in flaming debris as her husband fought to pull her through a small window of their home on the west estate. He collapsed from heat and smoke a moment before the roof caved in. Firemen succeeded in bringing the blaze under control within a few feet of the Schumacher mansion. Damage was estimated at $40,000. Kygar is caretaker of the estate. An exploding kerosene stove started the fire in the Kygar cabin.

HOLD PAIR FOR POWDER THEFT

PLACERVILLE, Calif., Sept. 28.—(UP)—James Moya, who told officers he had been instructed in Salinas to "get 26 cases of dynamite" was under arrest here today. Sheriff George M. Smith of El Dorado county said he had informed Salinas authorities of the arrest and was holding Moya for investigation. Local officers refused to reveal immediately who had given Moya the asserted "order" for the dynamite, or whether it was to be used

TREASURY STARTS NARCOTICS DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The treasury today dispatched more than 2500 agents on a mighty nation-wide law enforcement drive to smash the narcotics, counterfeiting and bootlegging traffic in scores of cities. Working under orders of Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., the combined treasury law enforcement officers launched a simultaneous attack against law violators. Agents from 500 offices scattered throughout the nation led the attack. Hundreds of arrests were expected before nightfall. It was the third drive launched by Morgenthau in his crime cleanup during the last three years.

PASADENA, Cal., Sept. 28.—(UP)—The coroner's office announced today it was satisfied that Edwin B. Baldwin, once secretary to an Oregon congressman, committed suicide in a six-story leap here Saturday. No inquest will be held. Baldwin left friends in the lobby of the Pasadena Athletic club, walked to a six-story balcony, climbed over the railing and plunged to the sidewalk. He had been infirm since coming here 15 years ago. A sister lives in Portland, Ore.

Loyalists Halt Rebel Advance 7 DIE IN OREGON FOREST FIRES

ALCAZAR IS RETAKEN BY INSURGENTS

Rightists Preparing for March on Madrid and Early End of War

WITH LOYALISTS, SIX MILES NORTH OF TOLEDO, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The loyalists checked a rebel march on Madrid along the main Toledo highway today. The loyalists claimed some progress and reported the recapture of Bargas after a fierce artillery duel.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Rebel troops at 10 p. m. last night delivered the Alcazar after the retreating Madrid militiamen fled before their onslaught, a rebel wireless report intercepted here on the frontier said today. The report said the loyalists before retreating discharged a final mine of 13 tons of dynamite beneath the Alcazar, the terrific detonation throwing refuse a mile and shattering scores of buildings in the vicinity. The rebels claimed 500 militiamen were killed in the capture of Toledo. The wireless message added that Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel leader, at 8 p. m. Sunday occupied the

TEXAS STREAMS GO ON RAMPAGE

WACO, Tex., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A half dozen torrent-fed streams and tributaries—repeating scenes of scarcely a fortnight ago—brought destruction throughout central Texas today, leaving more than 2500 persons homeless. The rampaging Brazos river, which brought havoc to Waco, was receding slowly early today after its swirling water had lapped at awnings 15 feet high in the business section. National guardsmen patrolled parts of the city under virtual martial law. East Waco was inundated. A levee washed out as unprecedented flood strength hit it, and families, grabbing a few belongings that could be carried, fled before the water.

The northern and southern sections of the city were partly under water. Approximately 2000 persons were homeless in this city alone, ten blocks of business section were still deep in muddy water. 75,000 PERSONS AT POMONA FAIR

POMONA, Cal., Sept. 28.—(UP)—The greatest Sunday crowd ever to visit Los Angeles County Fair was recorded yesterday when an estimated 75,000 persons jammed Exposition park. Fair officials said that 384,000 persons have visited the grounds since the fair opened 10 days ago, surpassing the attendance for the first 10 days of last year by nearly 100,000 persons. Two $500 stake events featured the closing program of the horse show last night. The $500 stake for harness ponies and Shetlands was a clean sweep for the entries of E. W. Beghtol, Industry, Ill., sportsman. His chestnut gelding Damaris took first while Moon Madness was second and Moon-glow third. The Carnation stables of Pomona took two of three places in the $500 stake for five gaited saddle horses with Carnation Hour first and High Tide second. Gortilla Bell, owned by James F. Walters of Woodside, Cal., was third.

127-Year-Old Razor Is Still In Use

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 28.—(UP)—The razor used by Harrison Douglas, 66, carpenter, has entered its 127th year of dressing the chins of the Douglas family. Bought by Douglas' great-grandfather in New Orleans in 1810, it has been handed down to the eldest son of each generation. The present user found it in the walls of his grandfather's log cabin at Indianola, Ia.

PLAN TO MOVE PAXTON PLANT

INDICATIONS here today were that efforts of civic and industrial leaders of Santa Ana to induce manufacturers who purchased the Paxton Nailing Machine company plant to consolidate various plants involved and to locate the combined plant in this city, will not be successful and the plant will go to Riverside.

Hale Paxton, former head of the Paxton firm before the plant was sold, said today that it looks as if the consolidated plants will be moved to Riverside. The matter is expected to be decided permanently at a meeting tonight in Riverside, when the manufacturers meet with the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, understood to have offered $50,000 for locating the plant there. The 99 employees of the Paxton plant here would not lose their jobs if the local plant is moved, Paxton said, but would be offered jobs at the new location. For a reported consideration of a half million dollars, the Paxton plant was sold to the Food Machinery corporation of San Jose, a large industrial concern. The Parker Machine works, also purchased by the San Jose firm, was consolidated with the local concern. The question then arose as to whether the Parker plant would be brought here or moved to Riverside or whether the local plant and the Parker outfit would be brought to Santa Ana, after consolidation.

CAMERAMAN FALLS FROM TRUCK, HURT

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Jack Flanagan, Pathe newsreel cameraman, was knocked from the top of a slowly-moving truck and injured seriously today while filming the start of Veteran Ab Jenkins' speed run on the Bonneville salt flats. Flanagan was operating his camera atop a sound truck when the truck passed beneath telegraph wires strung to the natural raceway. The driver apparently misjudged height of the lines and they swept the cameraman and his machine off the roof. First aid was administered at a first aid tent beside the speedway and Flanagan was taken to Delta, Utah. An ambulance was called from Salt Lake City to take the cameraman to the L. D. S. hospital there. Curious examination indicated Flanagan suffered a possible skull fracture, scalp and face lacerations.

Two Victims Of Mine Cavein Die

HAILEY, Idaho, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Two of 11 men trapped in a cavein at the North Star mine near Hailey died today after being rescued by a score of fellow workmen. The accident occurred during the night when 80 tons of muck caved in, burying the two victims. Nine others were buried partially, but escaped. The dead were said to be Hardy Downing of Murtaugh and Grover Davis, both miners.

WIND SHIFTS, 8 TOWNS IN PATH SAVED

2000 Persons Made Homeless as Flames Sweep Over 12,000 Acres

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Eight Coos and Curry county cities threatened all day Sunday by forest fires which wiped out the towns of Bandon and Presper with the loss of at least seven lives, appeared safe today.

Favorable winds and all-night battles against the flames which were licking close to the limits of Marshfield, North Bend, Coquille, Port Orford, Gold Beach, Langlois, Myrtle Point and Bridge, bore results and the only danger to the towns today was a possible recurrence of Sunday's high winds. Sweep 12,000 Acres. Fires were still raging over 10,000 or 12,000 acres of forest lands and most roads were closed. Marshfield was cut off from the north by burned bridges on the Oregon Coast highway and from the east when the state highway department closed the Roseburg-Coquille road because of falling, burning trees. Cities of the two counties telegraphed President Roosevelt and asked an allocation of at least $3,000,000 to rehabilitate Bandon.

SNOW BLANKETS MOUNTAIN AREA

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A record breaking September snowstorm struck Colorado and the Rocky Mountain region today disrupting communication, delaying railroad and highway traffic and doing extensive damage to late crops, trees and shrubs. More than seventeen inches of wet, heavy snow had fallen and the snow continued unabated. Large trees were torn down. Telephone and telegraph wires were down and power lines were disabled. Schools were closed in the rural districts. Three men were reported marooned atop Pikes Peak, in the Colorado Springs district and four more sought shelter at Glenwood, part way up the peak. The marooned men had food and fuel.

The storm moved into the Rocky Mountains Friday night after a strong wind brought a dust blizzard which was followed by rain. Five deaths have been attributed to the storm since Friday night. Harry Pittinger, a power company lineman, of Denver, was killed in a fall from a pole while he was repairing a power line. Charles A. Sheeley, was fatally injured when, blinded by dust, he ran into an automobile on a Denver street. George W. Mulien of Denver and his two granddaughters, Shirley May and Ruth Larsen, were fatally injured in an automobile crash at Rock Springs, Wyo.

Aviation Company Cuts Travel Rate

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—A sharp reduction in passenger air rates to approximate fares of first class rail travel was announced here today by Transcontinental & Western Air, effective Nov. 1. The reduction, as much as 33 per cent, was announced for the entire airline system and was ordered as a "challenge to American railroads," according to traffic manager George T. Cussen. The new schedule reduces the cost of a Los Angeles to New York fare from $160 to $118.95 and from Los Angeles to Chicago from $115 to $84.95.

American Sailor Found Guilty Of High Treason In Nazi People's Court

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The Nazi people's court today sentenced Lawrence Simpson, of Seattle, to three years imprisonment on charges of treasonable activities against the Reich in connection with the sailor's communistic activities.

Simpson, who confessed the Communist activities on the stand during his sensational trial this morning, will be given credit for 14 of the 15 months he has spent in prison pending trial. The prosecutor told the court the charge of espionage against Simpson was not sustained by the evidence, concentrating on the sailor's Communist connections. Simpson's attorney, Warner Amthor, had asked the court to give the American a maximum sentence of one year in prison on the treason charge and throw out the espionage charge altogether. Plea For Leniency. Amthor in defense of the sailor, stressed he was not the initiator of any attempt to distribute Communist literature in Germany before May 1, 1935. He said a heavier sentence would be justified if it could be proved the Communist party in America or some other prominent Communist organization were linked with the small group at Hamburg with which Simpson was charged with dealing.

Amthor said Simpson had had a chance to become a ship's officer but economic circumstances forced him to remain a sailor, adding: "One could understand a certain bitterness arising." "One could understand a certain America with its 'laissez faire' attitude could afford Communists more nourishment for their activities than the present regime in Germany," he added. "And one could imagine the defendant, who is not German, could fail to recognize the blessings which the present government has brought to Germany."

Confess 'Red' Activity. Simpson, cool but pale, said candidly that he had brought Communist stickers and pamphlets from America—but apparently saw no harm therein, inasmuch as Communists in the United States have public meetings and their own presidential candidate. Bruno Rietz, a former member of the Communist Youth Movement, was Simpson's first accuser. Plump faced, red haired, also pale, dressed in a brown suit with pale red shirt and checkered muff.

'RED' CANDIDATE JAILED FOR NIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Perry Hill, 31, Communist party candidate for congress from the third district, spent the night in jail because he sought to address a city plaza crowd despite the fact his speaking permit had been revoked. Patrolmen Martin Charles and R. T. McClellan, who visited the plaza to inform Hill his permit had been cancelled, said they arrested him when he attempted to strike them. City Manager James S. Dean explained the permit had been issued by a subordinate. "Since we have had so much trouble with communists it has been the policy of the administration to grant permits to plaza speakers on religious subjects only," Dean said.

Elks End Annual State Convention

OAKLAND, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Delegates to the 22nd annual state convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks disbanded today after electing L. A. Lewis, Anaheim, president and selecting Pasadena as the site of the 1937 convocation. Before adjourning, the convention adopted a resolution supporting the "city of strike-torn Salinas in protecting homes, private property and the government against Communists operating under the guise of legitimate members of organized labor."

MYSTERY DEATH IS DECLARED SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Inspector Norris G. Stensland of the sheriff's office, declaring he was satisfied the victim had killed himself, today closed an investigation into the death of Reid R. Russell, 28-year-old unemployed salesman, whose body was found on the front lawn of the Manhattan Beach home of Gouverneur Morris, the novelist. Although still unable to explain the disappearance of the empty cartridge from the gun found clutched in Russell's hand, Stensland said the shell might have been picked up by a "souvenir hunter" before officers arrived, or might have been trampled in the ground. Stensland said there would be no inquest. Morris, who knew Russell, had informed authorities the salesman had been despondent over unemployment.

TWO FORMER BANKERS OUT AFTER STOCK

A. J. Cruickshank, E. F. Farnsworth Said to Be Agents in Drive

BANKING INTERESTS here were electrified today by what appeared an attempt on the part of the powerful Bank of America chain to secure control of the First National Bank in Santa Ana. A. J. Cruickshank, president of the old First National, and E. F. Farnsworth, former vice-president, were known to be interviewing certain stockholders in the new bank, and offering them approximately $140 a share for their common stock, which has a par value of $100 a share. It is understood that Cruickshank and Farnsworth are acting as agents for the Bank of America; their recompense, it is said, will be $5 or $10 for every share of stock turned over.

There are 5000 shares of preferred stock and 5000 of common in the reorganized First National. The government owns all the preferred. The common is assigned to local capital; for the most part it is owned by the stockholders of the old bank which, before the depression, the Bank of America once attempted to purchase at $400 a share.

Whatever the story behind the story, officials of the First National thought enough of it to interview some shareholders and mail others a statement advising of the situation.

FILIPINOS JOIN LETTUCE STRIKE

SALINAS, Cal., Sept. 25.—(UP)—Three thousand Filipino lettuce cutters tentatively have decided to strike in sympathy with packers and plant workers, a Filipino labor Union committee announced today.

Meanwhile, violence flared again in the protracted walkout when a band of men, assertedly strikers, beat and critically injured Clarence Lyons, 28, a field worker.

Although outcome of a lengthy conference of Filipino leaders was regarded as inconclusive, it was learned that they drafted a group of demands which they will present to the growers-shippers association.

Will Form Patrols. If these demands are not met, C. D. Mensaivas, general secretary of the union said, picket patrols

SECRET SLAYERS SOUGHT IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Police today searched for leaders of the notorious Hung Shun Hui secret society in connection with the recent murders of Japanese which are causing diplomatic tension between Nanking and Tokyo. Police believe if they can arrest the leaders they may be able to break up a group having as its aim the aggravation of Sino-Japanese relations.

It was reported in the Japanese press that in view of the nationwide tension Japanese residents of Hankow plan to withdraw to Shanghai where 3000 troops are available to protect them or return to Japan.

Stricken Mexican Official Improved

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Gov. Cosme Hinojosa of the federal district of Mexico, stricken with a serious lip infection while vacationing here, was pronounced "quite improved" today by Dr. Walter F. Wessels. He is in the California hospital.

SEVEN DIE IN FOREST FIRES

Prosper and other fire damaged communities. Not one home was standing in Bandon today and 1600 persons were homeless, without furniture, and in many instances without sufficient clothing.

TIMBER LANDS FACE DESTRUCTION

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—(UP)—The timber lands of the entire northwest today faced the most serious fire hazard of the year with fires burning from the California line well up into Washington.

In Oregon Governor Charles H. Martin closed all the woods west of the Cascade mountains to any entry except for regularly traveled roads and tenanted. Game wardens immediately began herding deer hunters and fishermen out of the woods.

Calls for 1000 men to fight fires were broadcast by the federal employment service Sunday and more than 200 replied within a few hours. The men will be paid 30 cents an hour, board and free transportation from Portland to the fires and return.

Greatest of the fires raged in the district north of the Rogue river in Coos and Curry counties.

Wind Saves Town
Another bad blaze was burning in the Alsea region and for a time Sunday Yachats was threatened. Only a change of wind saved the little mill and resort town.

Flames reached Depoe bay and burned some buildings before they were beaten back. Residents had prepared to flee when the fire was stopped at least temporarily. Fires raged in Clark and Siskiyou counties in Washington, a 400-acre fire near Tum Tum mountain, and a 500-acre fire in the Mt. Adams region.

Another fire which may become serious burned on Squaw Mountain east of Estacada. It had covered close to 200 acres and a call was sent for 200 fire fighters.

Weather conditions were typically "fire weather." Hot, dry, strong winds fanned the whole northwest, sending the humidity down as low as nine per cent in Medford, 12 per cent at Roseburg, 21 per cent at Portland and 26 per cent at North Bend. Fire hazard exists when the humidity drops below 35 per cent.

RELIEF WORKERS
AM REFUGEES
MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 23.—(UP)—Relief workers today had brought aid to 2000 homeless refugees in fire-ravaged southwestern Oregon, as forest fires raged uncontrolled on a dozen scattered fronts.

The forest holocaust, which razed the towns of Bandon and Prosper, killed at least eight persons, burned more than 6000 acres of timber, including some of the valuable Port Orford cedars, and menaced many other towns.

Huge trucks lumbered over debris-choked roads and charred bridges throughout the night to carry the refugees into Marshfield, where relief headquarters was established.

Food and water supplies appeared adequate at Marshfield, for the time being. Twenty-four army trucks, loaded with food, blankets and medical supplies, commandeered at CCC camps, were enroute from Medford. The trucks also brought tenting facilities for 400 persons.

Governor Clarence Martin told Major-General T. E. Rilea, Oregon National Guard, in charge of relief efforts, there appeared no need for martial law. The governor said if looting or disorder occurred, he would appeal for federal troops.

As the evacuation of Bandon and Prosper continued, state and federal agencies battled to check the uncontrolled blazes flaming in nearby sectors.

Foresters mustered more than 1000 fire fighters. Highway crews hacked lanes along road strewn with smoldering logs. Fire fighting apparatus was rushed from nearby communities. A coast guard cutter and lightship awaited off shore with supplies.

Amid scenes rivaling war-time devastation, survivors searched hacked lanes along roads strewn with debris.

Eight bodies have been recovered, seven definitely identified. A score are missing. Twenty-five persons are injured, two blinded. Officials made no attempt to estimate property damage, which may run above $2,000,000 including destroyed timber.

A swift change of wind whipped a forest blaze through Bandon and Prosper, trapping aged and infirm residents. Most of those killed were elderly.

Citizens and foresters today guarded against a similar tragedy at Coquille, Marshfield and North Bend, where flames menaced until the wind shifted.

Trucks and busses brought fire fighters recruited in Portland, 220 miles away. Hospitals here and at North Bend were overflowing. The local armory was transformed into a first aid and relief station for the homeless refugees.

Die in Homes
Bandon residents died while attempting to snatch a few possessions from their burning homes. The charred bodies of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams were found in the pile of ashes that was their home. Williams had made his way as far as door, then collapsed on the threshold. Money was found clamped in his hand. Mrs. Williams died while attempting to save articles from the storehouse.

Mrs. Ida Hill, 71, was burned to death while attempting to drag her washing machine out of her house. A tent city has sprung up around Marshfield. Kitchen equipment was assured for each of the 1,200 tents.

Gov. Martin ordered the road from Redport to Gulf Beach on the Oregon coast highway closed to traffic. All logging operations in the coastal country were stopped.

Hitler Dedicates Troop Standards

Threats hurled at Russia by Adolf Hitler and the startling report that secret war orders had been issued to millions of Germans gave grim significance to this ceremony, performed by Der Fuehrer at the annual Nazi congress in Nuremberg. The German dictator is shown as he dedicated battle standards of storm trooper units massed for the mammoth demonstration.

BEULAH MAY IS SAILOR GUILTY REPRESENTED IN NAZI COURT IN L. A. EXHIBIT

Although prevented by illness from being present yesterday afternoon at the gala affair opening the first competitive exhibition of contemporary art and poetry at the Hollywood Riviera Galleries, Miss Beulah May, 1002 Mabury street, was represented in the event, in which she received honorable mention for her fine poem, "Builders of Dreams."

Miss May, who might well be given the title of Santa Ana's poet laureate, had planned to attend the opening, and hopes yet to see the exhibition which will remain at the galleries until December 6. Artists who placed in the exhibit were honor guests yesterday afternoon and were presented in a felicitous address by Judge Frank G. Swain. In his talk he asserted that art galleries and exhibitions are outstanding to an appreciation of art on the part of the general public, and therefore an important contribution to the world.

The Hollywood Riviera Galleries have on the official board, Clifford F. Reid, president; Roy Stewart, treasurer, and Geneva G. Newlin, secretary. Miss Newlin was especially interested in Miss May's recognition in the poetry division, as she is no stranger to Santa Ana where her brother was formerly connected with the Register.

LEFTISTS HALT REBEL ADVANCE

Marie Christine barracks and plaza between Madrid and Avila roads inside Toledo.

General Franco reported that three columns of enemy militia arriving at Toledo from Madrid as reinforcements were overcome by rightists fiercely pounding away at the ancient old town, fleeing toward Ciudad Real.

Rebel warplanes said they eighted 6,000 militiamen running back toward Alcantara in the rout.

Francisco reported finding a big quantity of rifles and cannon which were used to destroy the Alcazar during the 10-weeks' siege by the loyalists, who failed to take the old fort and its 1,200 or more rebel occupants.

REBEL HEADQUARTERS, Talavera de La Leina, Sept. 23.—(UP)—The rebel army has entered Toledo and there is rejoicing throughout rebel territory at the prospect of a march on Madrid and the collapse of the leftist government.

Reports of the fighting for entrance into Toledo indicated the rebels cut the Toledo-Madrid road Saturday night. Some loyalists of the force outside the city fled along the road to Aranjuez or along the river and across country.

Some buildings were set afire by the loyalists, it was said, to impede the rebel advance. Their situation was complicated, it was said, when a party of cadets made a sortie from the Alcazar and attacked.

Rebel airplanes prepared the way for the rebel entry into the city by bombing the bull ring and other places in the path.

Loyalists made an improvised fortress of the Vegetalja arms factory and the rebels brought up heavy artillery to bombard them, forcing them to retreat, leaving war material.

lier, he stood nervously before the judges in the darkly furnished informal courtroom whose only color was a color reproduction of a portrait of Adolf Hitler.

Riets said Simpson several times brought to Germany Communist literature, including such slogans as "Liberate Thaelmann" and "Death to Fascism." (Thaelmann is Ernest Thaelmann, German Communist leader who has been held in prison without trial.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Joseph Curran, head of the Seamen's Defense Committee, today called a one-hour sit-down strike of seamen in ships at port here in protest against Nazi conviction of Lawrence Simpson, American seaman.

Curran had planned the demonstration before Simpson was convicted and when word of the verdict reached him he said it would only intensify sentiment of sailors that the American government had failed to provide "sufficient protection" for a national.

The strike was set for the hour between 1 p. m. and 2 p. m. today. Curran said he had obtained assurances of participation from sailors on the Pennsylvania of Panama Pacific line, the President Roosevelt of the United States line, the Southern Cross of the Munson line, and "a number of freighters."

Sailors To Protest
Curran said the sailors would remain on board their ships sending telegrams of protest to Secretary of State Cordell Hull. He indicated that similar action might be taken on the Gulf and Pacific coasts and that if there are any ships in the vicinity of Hamburg "you can bet there will be voluble protests there too."

Picket lines will be established in front of the German consulate and at the pier of the North German Lloyd liner Europa when it docks at 2 p. m.

"The prison sentence shows that the trial must have been evidently unfair," Curran said.

Capt. S. S. Cummings, marine superintendent of the United States lines, took a divergent view.

"The case is closed as far as our company is concerned," he said. "We will make no move to intervene in the Simpson case. Curran is simply after publicity. Simpson had a fair hearing and was treated as a gentleman at all times by the Germans."

George Faye, local PWA worker, was taken into custody with Moya.

Sheriff Smith said the men were arrested in connection with the theft of 26 cases of dynamite from the storehouse of the Union Paving company, San Francisco firm which has a highway project under construction here.

Faye, powderman on the highway construction job, denied that he and Moya broke into the storehouse. He insisted "someone" else obtained the powder and delivered it to him and Moya at Kyburz, 32 miles east of here.

Authorities were searching for some trace of accomplices. Moya said he was employed by an unidentified man in Watsonville who gave him his directions Saturday.

Rightists deputies vigorously attacked the devaluation laws. One of them, Louis Marin, moved that it be referred back to the finance committee for revision. The government won its first skirmish on this point, defeating the motion 365 to 248. They did not make it a vote of confidence.

After this vote the chamber adjourned until 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST.)

SEEK YOUTH ON BLOODY TRAIL

The passengers, aroused more than ever by the youth's precipitous departure, called Lindahl's attention to the crimson puddle. He notified his employers, and they called police.

Officers scurried up a few flakes from the drying blood, and rushed to general hospital for an analysis. Chemists there said it was human blood.

Because none noticed the youth until a few minutes before he fled, police had no clues to his identity except his apparent age and the outline of a stained shoe print in the mud of the riverfront.

Rain Costs Sox Chance To Grab 2nd Place Money

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Baseball's eccentric gods gave Jimmy Dykes his bitterest pill to swallow on the final day of the 1936 major league season by sending rain to Chicago and denying the White Sox even a fighting chance to overtake Detroit for second money in the American league.

Cancellation of a double-header with the St. Louis Browns yesterday was a cruel blow to the scrappy manager who, in three years at the helm of the White Sox, has given Chicago a first-division American league team for the first time since 1920—the year after the "Black Sox" scandal.

Highlight of the final encounters was the Chicago Cubs' 7 to 3 triumph over St. Louis to tie the Gasbouse Gang for second place in the National league—five games behind the pennant-winning Giants.

Despite losing 16 to 5 to the Senators, the New York Yankees stood at 19 1-2 games, to break by a half-game the record set by the famous New York murderers' row of 1927.

City Manager W. C. Torrence, National Guard colonel, called out guardsmen for volunteer duty. Working rapidly, they cared for persons marooned in upper floors of homes, school houses and business buildings.

They closed highway bridges, ran freight cars in lines on railroad bridges to give them weight to withstand terrific flood pressure, and counted heads in this city of 60,000 to determine possible loss of life in the swift-striking flood.

It was impossible to determine damage in the floods. Clyde Haas of the Waco health department estimated it at $500,000 damage, but the total will run into millions of dollars in the area, it was feared.

The highest river stage was reported at 41 feet. It was hoped danger was past, but at points above Waco on the Brazos, more than 11 inches of rain may have started another crest.

Chaney To Talk At Beach Tonight

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 23.—Homer Chaney of Santa Ana, director of Orange County Public forums, will be forum leader at tonight's meeting in Laguna high school auditorium. He will speak on "Consumers Co-operation." Linton T. Simmons, superintendent of schools, will preside at the meeting, which is the third in a series scheduled to continue through the winter months.

will be organized tomorrow and cutters will leave lettuce fields in Salinas, Monterey and Santa Cruz counties.

Such a walkout would virtually paralyze all lettuce harvest operations in the "world's salad bowl," where employers have been cutting and shipping lettuce in defiance of striking members of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers' union.

Filipinos' Demands

The Filipino demands reported by Mensalves were:

1. That all Filipino field hands engaged in "stoop" labor be paid 60 cents an hour.

2. That the Filipino Labor union is to be recognized as the collective bargaining agency for these workers.

3. That there shall be no discrimination for labor activities.

4. That these demands are to be a part of a contract between the union and the growers-shippers association extending until Sept. 1, 1937.

Lyons was given emergency treatment at the Monterey County hospital. His injuries were regarded severe, but not serious. Identities of his assailants were not learned immediately.

Meanwhile, strike leaders and the employers' committee, now deadlocked in peace negotiations, were awaiting effect of completion of a new barricade surrounding one of the leading packing plants, the Monterey Ice Development company.

Strikebreakers will be housed within the fence.

ORANGE WOMAN IS REPORTED MISSING

Dropping from sight Friday afternoon, Mrs. Alton Laurie, 383 South Olive street, Orange, has not been seen since that time, according to her husband who is conducting an extensive search for her. Laurie fears that his wife may have met with foul play as she had no money with her when she went to Santa Ana from her home to look for employment at housekeeping.

Mrs. Laurie is five feet tall, has brown hair and eyes and is 23 years old. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing a blue coat, a house dress and white shoes. Persons who have seen her are asked to communicate with her husband or with Mrs. Pauline Collins of the county welfare department. Mrs. Laurie has four step children the oldest of whom is 10 years of age.

ALL THE SAME

Jimmy Foxx, Boston Red Sox first baseman, hit home runs in every American league park during the 1936 season.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Adding his vote to the slams against the New Deal, Norman Thomas, a deep pink Socialist, now also accuses the President of being supported by the Communists. "It's beginning to look as though a Communist is anybody you don't like."

Of course, it sounds funny to hear Norman call anybody else a Red, when he couldn't possibly give an accurate picture of his own political views without the use of technical words.

Oh well, a President doesn't really mind being called a lot of names during the campaign, just so long as you remember his right one during the balloting.

You know, for a country that's supposed to be headed for ruin, I never saw so many people trying to get control of the wreck.

TIDELAND OIL BILL SUBJECT BEFORE FORUM

A debate, based on proposition No. 4, which proposes to prohibit tideland surface oil drilling and authorize slant drilling from uplands, will be presented tomorrow night at the Forum for Political and Economic Education at the Santa Ana junior college. The affirmative of the debate will be upheld by Tom Talbert, Huntington Beach. Supervisor N. H. West will oppose passage of the proposition.

James Anderson, one of the directors of the forum, stressed the importance of the subject to be debated. He pointed out that the proposition is of vital interest to Orange county, in that the outcome of the election will effect drilling especially in Huntington Beach.

The debate is being presented with the idea of acquainting the public with the problems involved in the proposition. Immediately following the debate itself, the two participants will answer questions on the subject, Anderson announced.

Bank Suspensions 1921-1931

Bank Suspensions 1934-Sept. 15, 1936

Study the two maps shown above. They constitute the most striking argument of the campaign. They show, in graphic fashion, why it would be a distinct menace for the country to restore the Republican Party to power.

Those two maps form a health chart of the financial lifeblood of America. The top map shows bank failures under TEN NORMAL REPUBLICAN YEARS—from 1921 to 1931. There are 8,923 black dots on that map. Each dot represents a failed bank; each dot shows a community in which deposits were lost, business men ruined and trade paralyzed.

Now skip the two tragic years of 1932 and 1933 when banks were falling like ten pins in the panic brought on by the Hoover depression. Thousands of banks went down in that period.

Come to the normal years under President Roosevelt—1934 to 1936 inclusive. In that period there have been just 66 bank suspensions and in every single case depositors were paid off 100 per cent. up to $5,000. In other words, bank failures have been reduced to the minimum and even when one occurs the community is able to go ahead as if nothing happened. BUT:

Gov. Landon is an unrelenting foe of bank insurance. He told the bankers that it was a menace to the country. His running-mate, Col. Knox, says "No savings account is safe." Mr. John D. M. Hamilton says the "banks were safer in 1932 than they are now." Do you agree that bank insurance should be repealed?

Democrats Dislike David Dubinsky—New Deal Elector

Mr. James A. Farley may have thought he was playing shrewd politics when he made Mr. David Dubinsky an Elector for President Roosevelt in New York.

James A. Farley

But he has put the rank and file of the Democratic Party on the spot and they are not very appreciative of Mr. Farley's tactics.

It is impossible, from a practical standpoint, to vote for Mr. Roosevelt without voting for the entire slate of Roosevelt Electors. That includes Mr. Dubinsky, and there are many thousands of Democrats in New York who are not going to vote for Mr. Dubinsky.

Mr. Dubinsky has denied charges that he is a Communist. He ought to know better than any one else what he is and we accept his word for it.

But he has been the spearhead in the United States for raising money to be sent to the Communist party in Spain, which has distinguished itself by its church burning and priest slaughtering. And he is picked by Mr. Farley for the honored post of a Presidential Elector.

The New York Times of Sept. 17, 1936, said: "Mr. Dubinsky announced that published reports that the drive to raise $100,000 to be sent to the Loyalists of Spain had proven a failure were not true. 'To date,' he said, 'without one penny of expense, we have raised $78,000 and we expect more.'" square with the records of hundreds of thousands of loyal Democrats Mr. Dubinsky may not be a Communist, but his record does not who are asked to vote for him on Nov. 3.

Democrats in Farley Trap

And Mr. Farley has caught those Democrats in a trap. There is no practical way to vote the Democratic ticket without voting for Mr. Dubinsky.

Mr. Dubinsky is entitled to his views. But nobody can travel about the streets of New York without sensing the chagrin of old-time Democrats that Mr. Farley has forced a vote for Mr. Dubinsky from every one who had intended to vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

As every one knows, voters do not vote directly for Presidential candidates. They vote for Electors, who in turn vote in the Electoral College.

Mr. Dubinsky must know that he is giving much aid and comfort to Communists, New Dealer though he is.

On the same day that he was boasting that he had raised $78,000 for the Spanish Communists, the New York Times was carrying an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow telling of the efforts of the Communist Party in Russia to help Spanish Loyalists, the story being epitomized by the headline:

"Soviet Reds Aid Madrid"

Well, the New Dealers will be glad to vote for Mr. Dubinsky, but hundreds of thousands of Democrats will not. They have never approved the group of radicals Mr. Roosevelt has working for the New Deal in Washington, trying to make America over. The Republican National Committee has just issued a statement based on the announcement of a book by George N. Peck, Mr. Roosevelt's former chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and Samuel Crowther, which is described as "damning evidence, enough to convince the most skeptical, that the New Deal was tainted with Communism from its very inception." The Committee quoted Mr. Peck:

WANT ALL ON RELIEF

"For a while the notion was popular among a certain set that relief work should be pushed forward with the intent of driving the whole country on relief and thus making the capitalistic system commit suicide. . . .

"Another group was against relief on the ground that hungry men revolt sooner than fed men. They would have starved the people, on the same theory that the Russians used to force the farmers into collective farming.

"They differed on what the revolution was about and what should be done afterwards. They differed also as to the blood that ought to be shed. Some were for no blood and others for a lot of blood."

ORANGE EDITOR NAMED HEAD OF STATE G. O. P.

Justus F. Craemer, co-publisher of the Orange Daily News, and assistant state director of public works, was placed at the head of the Republican party organization in California by virtue of his election in Sacramento Saturday as chairman of the Republican state central committee.

In this capacity he will direct the campaign for election of the Landon-Knox presidential ticket, and the slate of Republican candidates throughout the state.

Clifford Anglin of Richmond was elected chairman of the Democratic state central committee, at a meeting of that body, held the same day.

Craemer, who succeeds District Attorney Earl Warren, of Alameda county, as state Republican chairman, was elected to the post without a contest. Edward S. Shattuck of Los Angeles, the other candidate, withdrew before a vote was taken. A test vote on another matter had shown the preponderance of Craemer's support.

The Orange publisher has long been prominent in national newspaper affairs, and a California political leader. He has served as president of the California Newspaper Publishers association and National Educational association.

Craemer came to Orange from Ft. Dodge, Iowa, in 1908 with his present business partner, W. O. Hart, who is editor of the Orange News. They acquired that newspaper shortly after it was established as a daily in 1908.

Other state committee officers elected by the Republicans were: State Senator Walter McGovern,

San Francisco, first vice-chairman; Jessie S. Williamson, Berkeley, second vice chairman; Al Sheets, Sacramento, third vice chairman; Lawrence Cobb, Los Angeles, secretary; Sol Abrams, San Francisco, assistant secretary; Ray M. Carlisle, Bakersfield, sergeant-at-arms.

Democrats: Herbert C. Legge, chairman of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, vice chairman; Donald Younger, Santa Cruz, secretary; and 20 district vice chairmen.

Police News

Following a report from Mrs. Mabel Bohannon, 719 West Second street, Santa Ana, to the effect that her brother, George W. McCuiston, had disappeared, police learned that he had moved to Newport Beach, where he had found employment. Mrs. Bohannon had not heard from him since he was last seen on Sept. 24.

Jessie Kempton, 2215 North Broadway, Santa Ana, last Saturday asked police to assist her in finding a purse which she lost either Thursday or Friday of last week. The purse contained a small canteen shaped locket set with three diamonds and several other small gold articles.

Officers were called Saturday to investigate the burglary of the home of Sunday Hernandez, 2551 Evergreen street. The burglary occurred two weeks ago. Clothing valued at $20 was taken from a trunk in the house.

CHEST LEADERS HOLDING THREE PARLEYS TODAY

Community Chest campaign leaders are putting in a busy day today with three important meetings covering three phases of preparation for the appeal which must raise $35,656.70 to carry on charity and welfare activities in Santa Ana during the ensuing 12 months.

At noon the campaign council held a joint meeting with the membership of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon meeting at the Green Cat cafe. Final plans were laid for the official opening of the campaign at a "kick-off" dinner meeting of all workers in the organization next Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the dining room of the Elks club.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the advance gifts committee working under the leadership of W. B. Williams receives its assignments and instructions and begins immediately with the solicitations of subscriptions of $100 or more from a selected list of business firms and individuals able to subscribe in large amounts. While this committee will handle a small number of prospects it was explained that the committee has accepted the responsibility of obtaining from them a large part of the total campaign goal.

Company chairmen who are carrying on the campaign among their fellow-employees in business and industrial establishments employing five or more people will launch their part of the effort at a dinner meeting at 6:15 this evening at the Green Cat cafe, when R. Carson Smith, chairman of the establishments division will give them their final instructions and issue working supplies.

Tomorrow morning the central division which will solicit subscriptions in the $25 to $100 brackets will meet for breakfast at 7:30 to receive instructions and assignments of duties from its chairman, Bob Fernandez.

Members of the advance gifts committee, the central division and the establishments division will attend the Thursday "kick-off" dinner when the campaign will be officially launched by the men and women who are giving their time voluntarily and without pay in the campaign. It is expected that these divisions will have completed their part of the work by the end of the week.

Each worker pays for his own dinner, luncheon or breakfast at all such meetings. D. G. Tidball campaign chairman stated.

FULLERTON, Sept. 28.—Selecting only old articles made of gold, a thief ransacked the home of Mrs. A. Johnson at 619 North Sparta over the weekend. All that Mrs. Johnson could find missing were two pair of gold rimmed glasses, some earrings and other gold jewelry.

KANSAS SCHOOL OFFICIAL ON VISIT TO S. A. SAYS LANDON NOT UNFRIENDLY TO SCHOOLS

By GEORGE E. HART

Governor Landon unfriendly to the schools? That was news to C. W. Shaffer, prominent Kansas banker and school official, who spent the week-end in Santa Ana. "I venture to say," he observed, with some amusement, "that it is news to everybody in Kansas."

Shaffer is vice-president of the Kansas Bankers Association, and came to the Coast as a delegate to the American Bankers Association convention. He also is treasurer of the Russell, Kansas, school district, where he had been a member of the board for 18 years, closely in touch with school affairs.

The reports circulated here by Governor Landon's political opponents, to the effect that the Republican presidential candidate had balanced the budget of his state at the expense of teachers' salaries and school appropriations, interested the Kansas school official but apparently did not impress him.

"Well," he remarked, "you have to come to California to get the news. I never heard that report in Kansas."

"But," he added, "that is probably wise to tell that story in Kansas. We know better, there."

"We know, for example," he continued, "that it would be quite impossible for Governor Landon or any other governor to exert any influence whatever upon teachers' salaries or school expenditures, which are entirely the business of the local school district."

Up To Voters

"Under Kansas law, we have the most democratic form of school administration anywhere. The school board prepares its budget of proposed expenditures, including teachers' salaries, and the number of teachers to be employed. Voters of the district assemble at the annual May meeting and approve or reject or readjust that budget to suit themselves, and nobody else. They vote upon it. In our district, they have left it pretty much to the board, to handle the matter of how many teachers we shall have and how much they shall be paid. But they have the power to vote on these questions if they wish. The governor has nothing to say about it."

"As to high schools, the Barnes law, which is optional with each county, and which operates in Russell county, provides that the county commissioners shall make a tax levy equivalent to $1200 for each accredited high school teacher in the county. This general levy over the county is apportioned to the seven high schools in the county on the basis of average daily attendance, after a flat apportionment of $1200 to each high school is first made."

Has No Power

"The only state aid to local districts is given from earnings of the investments of the state school fund. This amounts to about $600 per year to our district. The governor has nothing to do with that fund, either."

"If pupils reside beyond a certain distance away from the school attended, the state allows transportation expenses, either to the parent bringing the child to school, or to pay the hire of some other person for that purpose."

"Incidentally, our school budgets are required under the Civil Basis law of Kansas, which was a product of Governor Landon's administration, and which certainly appeals to every business-minded person. It requires every tax-fixing body to estimate its probable expenses, and then limit its tax levy to that amount."

"No state school appropriation voted by the legislature ever has been vetoed by Governor Landon. "And Governor Landon, it now appears, will carry the state of Kansas by at least 40,000 majority. Roosevelt carried the state in 1932 but so did Landon. This time it will be Landon."

Shaffer, with Mrs. Shaffer and their daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Holland, also of Russell, were guests from Saturday until today at the home of H. M. Baldridge, former Kansas, of 24 North Olive street.

They departed this afternoon for home, by way of San Diego.

Johnson and Mrs. Bates Lane were co-hostesses Sunday afternoon at a tea given at the Johnson home, 260 North Glassell street, when Mrs. Frederick Johnson and young son, Kennedy Johnson, were guests. DANA LAMB AND BRIDE RETURN BY CHRISTMAS

Operating the smallest ship ever to pass officially through the Panama canal, Dana Lamb, son of County Tax Collector John C. Lamb, and his bride, the former Virginia Bishop, of Costa Mesa, have capped their three-year honeymoon cruise by a trip through the famous water-way, and will be home by Christmas, according to a letter received by the groom's father.

The letter incidentally revealed that Dana Lamb had recovered without difficulty from the illness which resulted in the young couple's removal from Cocos Island by a passing ship several weeks ago.

Their arrival at the Panama canal in their 18-foot "ship," which carries regular ship's papers, and a personnel of skipper and mate, was considerable of a shock to the solemnity of canal officials, who failed to conceal their merriment while officially passing the tiny craft through the canal, according to Lamb's letter to his father.

The "crew" of the boat were much puzzled and embarrassed to be formally drawn up before the quarantine station, while newsreel cameras clicked and "brass hats" made important notations regarding "tonnage" and other necessary statistics regarding ships going through the canal. The Lambs were then ordered to pay the toll charge—which amounted to 75 cents. Then the officials had to laugh.

They passed through from West to East. What their plans are, from that point, are not known here, said J. C. Lamb, except they expect to be home by Christmas.

They will not return in their boat, as it would be impossible for a small boat to breast the unfavorable currents and wind on the northward trip, that aided their journey down the Coast.

Lamb's letter to his father follows: "We arrived here last night and are nearing the end of our journey. We were picked up at Cocos Island by a tuna boat and taken into Camp Blanco, just outside of Puntarenas. Was ill the last week on Cocos, but soon recovered and was able to continue on down the coast under our own 'steam.' We made a fast run down the coast off Costa Rica and Panama and after a day's stop at Taboga Island, came on in to Panama.

"We were told at the outer station at quarantine, to proceed to the dock directly in front of the captain's building, and hoist a yellow quarantine flag, which we did. A crowd had gathered and we felt like a couple of nuts, sitting out there in the battered old canoe, with newsreel cameras cranking, etc.

"Finally, the port official came down on the float and we were called in before stern officials—port doctor, immigration, sanitary, port chiefs, pilot and others. They started asking questions and looking over our papers, then began filling out forms—all procedure very stern and business-like. Until the official, whose business it is to figure out the length, tonnage and other things, upon which depends the canal toll charge, couldn't hold a straight face any longer, and laughed outright. Then everyone enjoyed the joke.

"For, in strictly following the official schedule, our toll charge was seventy-five cents; to date, the smallest craft ever to pass officially through the canal.

"The U. S. Transport, Chateau Thierry, was in port, and we were invited aboard. As we were in our traveling clothes, we were glad to accept this offer and grab our dinnage bags, go aboard, and clean up and doil up.

"We expect to start through the canal tomorrow, a regular ship, with our regular papers and our toll paid. We expect to spend about three days going through."

El Modena Group Hears Rev. Moore

EL MODENA, Sept. 28.—At the annual meeting of the officers and teachers of the El Modena Friends church and Sunday school Friday evening, the Rev. Harley Moore of Whittier, superintendent of the Friends yearly meeting, was the principal speaker. He spoke on "Evangelism" and recommended the use of the teachers' training book by A. J. Sharp in the Sunday school.

Other speakers of the evening included Chester Stearns, superintendent of the Sunday school; Mrs. John Turner, Lester Raymer, Mrs. Harley Moore, Mrs. Doris Gray, Dorothy Gray, the Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Sorenson.

The meeting was preceded by a banquet served in the church bungalow.

ADULT CLASSES OPEN SESSIONS THIS EVENING

The adult education program opens this evening and by the close of the week the full program will be under way. This is the fifth year that the work has been organized as an evening high school program. During the past four years, forty-five adults have secured their high school diplomas. Credit is offered on a high school level if requested. Comparatively few are interested in credit as the majority of those attending the various classes are high school and college graduates. Over six thousand participated last year and an unusually high interest has been manifested this year.

All registrations are made in the class room. The program this year offers a wide variety of interest. The usual classes are included in the commercial and academic fields. By means of a co-operative program with the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., the opportunities in physical education are greatly extended. This will be of special interest to those who wish to swim as it will give them the use of an inside pool. No swimming will be offered at the high school pool but all the gym classes will be held there as in previous years. On Friday evenings a study of personality and human relations will be made under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Vandervort of the Los Angeles Parent Education program. This will be of value to all who are interested in making their own lives more effective and in being better able to understand and help children. This group will meet in the Y.W.C.A., while in the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evenings Prof. J. Gustav White, head of the counseling department, Whittier college will lead a study of the problems involved in finding a job.

New classes are being offered in astronomy, aviation, color study, geology and mineralogy, navigation, traffic safety, and flower arrangement. More fields of interest are included in this year's program. There is no tuition and the classes are open to any adult in the community who cares to attend.

PROWLER IS SOUGHT BY LOCAL POLICE

Police were called Saturday night to investigate the activities of a prowler in the north section of Santa Ana, according to records filed at the Santa Ana police department today.

At 8:05 p. m., Mrs. D. D. Patterson, 421 West Santa Clara avenue, reported a prowler in the back yard of her residence. Officers investigated, and were told that a man had come to the back door of the house. When Mrs. Patterson investigated, the man disappeared.

Approximately 10 minutes later, a call was received from the home of A. I. Mellenthin, 2340 North Park boulevard. The maid at the Mellenthin home reported she had seen someone peering through a rear window. She went to the window, and the man ran away.

POLICE HUNT SHORT CHANGE MAN HERE

Santa Ana police are today on the look-out for an asserted short change artist, described as being of medium height, dark or swarthy complexion, well dressed, and believed to be a foreigner. Saturday, the suspect victimized clerks in three stores, obtaining a total of

Absent Minded Shopper Calls Police

Like the proverbial absent minded professor, J. W. Taylor, 418 West Santa Clara avenue, Santa Ana, found that his faulty memory was the cause of embarrassment.

Saturday afternoon, Taylor informed police that several bags of vegetables, valued at $1.59, had been stolen from the tonneau of his car while it was parked near the market at Second street and Broadway. An investigation was started, and newsmen in the neighborhood told the officer they had seen Taylor place the groceries in the car, but had not seen anyone take the groceries out of the machine.

Taylor went home, and soon phoned the police department. "I found my groceries all right," he told the desk sergeant. "They were here at home."

Taylor had taken the groceries home earlier in the day, and then had made a second trip to town for more vegetables. He had completely forgotten about his first trip, he reported.

$25 in cash as a result of his short-change activities.

He obtained $10 from the J. C. Horton Furniture store, 517 North Main street; $10 from Almquist's Dress Shop, 103 West Fourth street, and $5 from the Red and White grocery store, 1303 North Main street. The case is being investigated by Officer Hunter Leach.

EXCHANGE RATE FOUND UNFAIR IN CYCLE SALE

The rate of exchange, one small wrist watch for a motorcycle, proved far from satisfactory to Jesus Cruz, 429 North Olive street, Orange. Yesterday, he asked Santa Ana police to assist him in straightening out a financial transaction which found him the possessor of a cheap woman's wrist watch taken as down payment on a motorcycle.

Two months ago, he said, David Germaine, 19, of 404 East Second street, Santa Ana, gave him the wrist watch as security on the motorcycle, promising to return in a few days, redeem the watch and make payment on the motorcycle. The youth failed to show up.

Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford investigated, and found the boy's parents, who live at 2056 1/2 South Main street. The case was presented to them, and they told Wolford that the watch in question was the property of young Germaine's wife. They had presented it to her as a gift some time ago.

Yesterday afternoon, the elder Germaine and his son came to the police station, and met Cruz. The father obtained the pink slip to the motorcycle and the watch in exchange for $7, cash. The watch was returned to Mrs. Germaine, and according to the police report, "everyone seemed satisfied."

Screw-Balling The Giants Into The Series; How Hubbell Southpaws His Deceptive Delivery

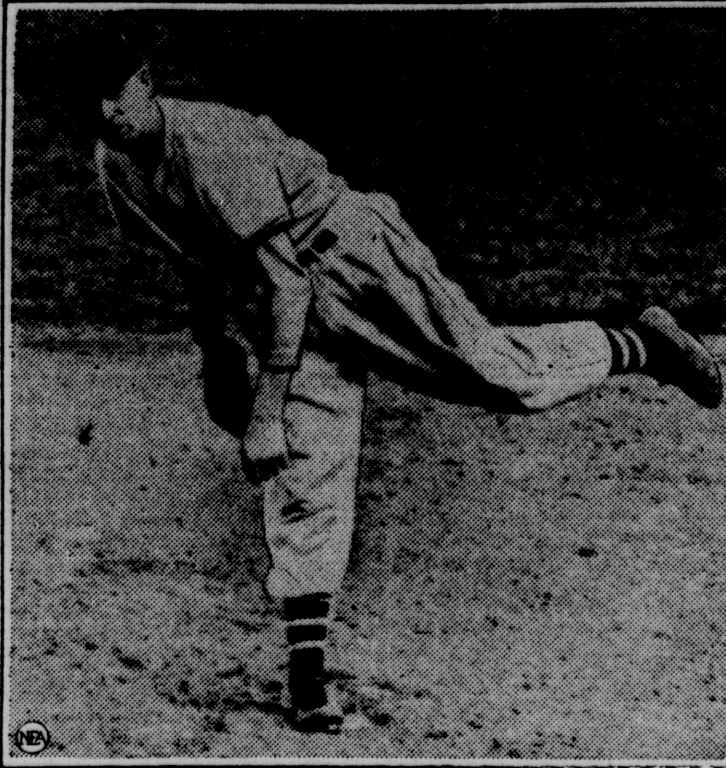

Here's the start of that peculiar but effective Carl Hubbell windup that has made him the mainstay of the Giants' pitching staff and one of the greatest hurlers ever to grace the National league.

At the top of the windup. It's here that the southpaw marshals his physical forces.

Here she comes, boys! Get that bat ready to whiff the ozone, for the great Hubbell is bearing down, and when he's right, the king can do no wrong. Power is written all over this delivery photo.

Never even came close! You can tell by the graceful follow-through that Hubbell has breezed another past a rival batsman. This part of the delivery is one of Hubbell's secrets of success.

EX-CHAMPION WARMS UP FOR LEVIN MATCH

Warming up for Wednesday's match in Los Angeles with Dave Levin for the world's wrestling championship, massive Vincent Lopez takes on the powerful Howard (Hagman) Cantonwine, himself a titular contender of the first water, at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

Whereas Levin must depend on speed and science against the 265-pound mat-ador, most popular Mexican athlete of all time, the giant Cantonwine is the physical equal of Lopez in every way. He's as tall; he's as heavy; he's as strong, and he claims a trick as effective as Lopez' famous "elbow punch."

In some quarters Cantonwine's celebrated maneuver known as the "hangman hold" is regarded as more dangerous and a deal more effective than the elbow smash with which Lopez emerged from obscurity to the world championship in less than a year.

Men who have wrestled both claim that while Lopez' blow stuns, its effect is only temporary. The victim of a hangman hold suffers not only at the moment but is weakened for several days and is forced to continue a match is greatly handicapped.

Lopez has never been defeated here. Cantonwine suffered a reversal but once, and then without losing a fall. It was in his first match with Levin. Later Howard proved he was a great wrestler by holding the champion to a draw. He has beaten Nick Lutze and Bill Hansen, scoring over Lutze twice. "Tiny" Roebuck, 285-pound Indian giant, meets Bill Hansen in the secondary feature. Roebuck has won his last four matches. Steve Strelch faces "Baron" Ginsberg and Bob Coleman meets Jerry Work.

Perry Heckled By Harpo, Loses To Budge

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Gangling Donald Budge's first victory over Frederick J. Perry after a three-year pursuit was the world tennis highlight today as ranking American and foreign tennis stars prepared for their next competition in San Francisco.

The red-haired Oakland youngster, who culminated his career yesterday by crumpling the recognized world champion for a 6-4, 6-2, 6-3 victory in the Pacific Southwest men's singles tournament, nevertheless owed at least part of his success to fuzzy-haired Harpo Marx.

Harpo—breaking into speech after 10 years of film silence—succeeded in nettling Perry into a public outburst and possibly was the cause of the Englishman's sudden fiasco.

Budge was leading, two sets to one, when he drove a perfect placement into a corner and a line man called it out. The crowd boomed, and Perry, obviously annoyed, said: "Sorry, I can't do anything about it."

Then Harpo heckled him. What he said was lost in the uproar, but Perry turned toward his box and distinctly said:

"I'm playing this game, if you think you can do any better, come down and play."

A second upset was registered when Alice Marble, after her first tournament title since winning the National championship, was jolted by Gracy Wheeler of Santa Monica, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3.

Budge teamed up with his National champion partner, Gene Mack, to win the men's doubles title from Perry and Frank Shields, 14-12, 6-3, 6-0. He and Majorie Glandman Van Ryn of Philadelphia annexed the mixed doubles crown also.

NATIONAL WOMEN'S GOLF PLAY BEGINS

SUMMIT, N. J., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Youngsters just past the pig-tail stage, mothers and a grandmother started over the treacherous course of the Canoe Brook Country club today for the 40th Women's National golf title.

An open fight for the crown was anticipated because the defending champion, Glenna Collett Vare, six-time winner of the trophy, stacked away her clubs this year to devote more time to her children.

Five American girls and the Briton 19-year-old Pamela Barton, British champion, were the outstanding favorites.

The outstanding Americans were 19-year-old Patty Berg, Marion Miley, Dorothy Traung, Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews and Charlotte Glutting.

WHAT'S THIS? RIVERSIDE JAYSEE 0, FROSH 47

There must be a story some-where behind this: Riverside junior college 0, Southern California freshmen 47.

Until Saturday, a Jess Mortensen-coached Riverside eleven had never been beaten by more than two touchdowns. The worst licking the Bengals had ever taken was that 26-19 affair in Santa Ana's Bowl last fall.

Either Riverside has a mediocre aggregation in spite of its wealth of pony backs, or the Trojan yearlings are the best ever assembled under the S.C. banner.

The answer—eagerly awaited in Santa Ana which always considers Riverside the team to whip in the Eastern conference—should be forthcoming this week-end, when Riverside meets Compton of the Western division Friday night and the Trojans go into action at Palo Alto against Stanford.

Three Santa Anans, Jack Robinson, first string center, and Bob Reid and Jim Crowther, tackles, helped the frosh pour it on the Bengals.

It is quite possible that the Riverside boys choked up against the freshmen. It also is a fact that Riverside is a slow starter. But 47-0 represents a lot of points—the wrong way. Maybe Riverside's star has set at last.

The telephone bell jingled early Sunday.

Al Claves, Citrus' junior college football coach, was on the other end.

"I read in your column about the so-called Ernie Poore scandal," said Claves, "and I want to explain."

Poore is the Covina backfield star much sought by Pomona Jaysee who turned up at Citrus.

"Last year Poore was in the University of California's extension school," said Al. "He didn't like it and came home. He worked out with us all spring. This

OPENERS SHOW INDIANS WEAK, U. S. C. STRONG

By United Press

When the curtain went up on the 1936 Pacific Coast football season, fans saw an apparently much-weakened Stanford team, a surprisingly powerful Southern California squad, a mass display of California talent and a University of Washington eleven that put up a valiant fight against the National champion Minnesota.

Stanford, 1935 Rose Bowl titlist, was outmanned by "Buck" Shaw's first Santa Clara team, 12-0. The Indians, who meet Washington State Saturday, showed little of the drive that swept them through their conference schedule with but one defeat last year.

The Minnesota Gophers had to turn on all their power and speed to outdistance the Huskies 14-7. Washington came out of the contest with Halfback Jimmy Cain injured and other players battered but the team expects a breather in next Saturday's conference game with Idaho.

Southern California trounced Oregon State, 35-7, in the weekend's biggest upset. The Trojan machine, long supreme on the coast, showed much of its former versatility and three-deep manpower as it swamped the Corvallis team under a barrage of touchdowns.

University of Oregon, which meets S. C. next Saturday, defeated University of Portland by two touchdowns Friday night. California's Bears had an easy time with the California Aggies, beating them 39-0, but ran into difficulty against A. A. Stagg's College of the Pacific eleven, which they managed to beat 14-0. "Stub" Allison poured out his plentiful shock troops in the double header, giving little indication of the unit he will use during the remainder of the campaign. The Bears meet St. Mary's Saturday.

U. C. L. A. in a twin bill, beat Pomona 26-0 and Occidental 21-0. The Bruins meet Montana Friday night at the Coliseum.

St. Mary's kinsmen among the "Independents," downed Gonzaga 26-13 in a Sunday game at San Francisco. University of San Francisco beat Fresno State college 14-0.

U. C. L. A. in a twin bill, beat Pomona 26-0 and Occidental 21-0. The Bruins meet Montana Friday night at the Coliseum.

HEAVIES SHUN BOUT WITH SAILOR BOY

Although encountering considerable difficulty in finding an amateur heavyweight willing to face Sailor "Wild Bill" Boyd, promoter Bob Singleton of the Orange County Athletic club today completed arrangements for two of the eight bouts which will see outstanding battlers from the U. S. S. Idaho filling one side of the card Thursday night.

Sailor Covington, who kayoed George Hughes (who fought LeMon here three times) will meet Ben Stuck, Negro from the middle west who holds numerous titles in the heavy division. One of the best fights of the evening should be between Art Arroya, Westminster Adonis, and tough Sailor Holland.

Germany's bid for Campbell's mark probably will be made in Germany or Hungary and not on the salt beds of Utah or the sands of Daytona Beach. There are several great concrete highways which run for miles without a single bend near Berlin and Budapest, and German drivers consider them just as suitable as America's natural courses. The narrowness of the racing strip doesn't seem to bother them. They have whipped the Auto-Unions down these roads at 200 without even halting regular traffic.

The honor of going for the record will be given to Hans von Stuck or Bernard Rosemeyer. Von Stuck is nearing 40 and has been the most celebrated German driver of the past 10 years but he has been outshaded a bit by Rosemeyer this season. Bernard is in his early 20's. He puts the heaviest foot on the throttle of any European driver.

Control Real Secret Of Hubbell's Success

(This is the third of a series of world series personalities.)

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The men who pitch and catch for the New York Giants:

CARL HUBBELL—Droll son of Southwest. Says if he hadn't developed his screwball, might be working on the farm down in Meeker, Okla. Control his greatest asset. Not afraid to pitch to a dangerous batter's weakness in a pinch. Like all Giants' stars, is quiet. On the bench never stirs or moves; just watches. After his great 2-1 victory over "Dizzy" Dean in crucial game at St. Louis he said: "I hate to see a pitcher lose a game on a pop fly." Hubbell himself hit the pop fly which brought in the winning run. Tall and angular. Wears his baseball pants way down near ankles. Says elastic around knee bothers him.

Fred Fitzsimmons—Strangest delivery in majors. Turn his back to batter before making pitch. Roly-poly, good natured. Son of a former police chief at Mishawaka, Ind. Raised by dad to be a ball player. Master of the knuckle-ball. In winter raises fancy poultry on his farm at Arcadia, Cal., near Santa Anita racetrack.

FRANK GABLER—Biggest talker on the club. Says he comes from a family of earthquake addicts, and that he and his father were three times knocked down by California quakes. Has strong hands and can tear a deck of cards in two with his fingers. Fascinated by strong men of circus and secretly practices tricks with dumb-bells to improve muscles. Only scored one shutout in majors.

CLYDELL CASTLEMAN—Only a few years ago a barefoot boy on a dairy farm at Donelson, Tenn. Beat time and space. Chews gum incessantly on and off field. A St. Louis boy who escaped the Cardinals' chain gang.

DICK COFFMAN—Talks too much to be a typical Giant, but is more subdued than he was with Browns. Lost a decision to Rogers Hornsby in a train brawl last year, which led to his transfer to Giants. Figures that was the luckiest break of his career.

OUS MANCUSO—First Italian ever to play with Giants. Flashing eyes and always in high spirits. Terry got him from Cardinals because he liked Mancuso's fighting spirit, whether his team was in front or behind. Attack of typhoid fever in winter of 1933-34 almost ruined his baseball control. Considered best low ball backstop in majors.

HARRY DANNING—Jewish boy from Los Angeles. Never been in Terry's good graces since he was a holdout in '35. Will see world series from the bench unless Mancuso is hurt.

With the discovery of Utah's magnificent course, Campbell said, "high speed racing was made comparatively simple. If Daytona Beach was the only course available, I would almost bet my last farthing that the record of 276 I set there would stand for the duration of my lifetime."

"For driving that speed, or even 240, at Daytona, was more hazardous and requires more skill than 300 or even 350 at Utah. I don't think German drivers or any other drivers will exceed 300 on paved roads. The tires won't stand up over concrete at that speed. They'd simply go to pieces."

has the biggest ninth inning complex of any pitcher in league.

HAL SCHUMACHER—Quiet, serious college graduate from St. Lawrence university. Blond and good-looking, once got an offer from the movies but didn't bother to answer the letter. His father idolized an older son and thought he would become a second Ty Cobb. The son was killed in the war and the father lost interest in baseball until Hal made good.

ALFRED SMITH—Quietest of the quiet Giants. When he signs an autograph he writes "A. Smith," to save time and space. Chews gum incessantly on and off field. A St. Louis boy who escaped the Cardinals' chain gang.

HARRY DANNING—Jewish boy from Los Angeles. Never been in Terry's good graces since he was a holdout in '35. Will see world series from the bench unless Mancuso is hurt.

He puts the heaviest foot on the throttle of any European driver.

With the discovery of Utah's magnificent course, Campbell said, "high speed racing was made comparatively simple. If Daytona Beach was the only course available, I would almost bet my last farthing that the record of 276 I set there would stand for the duration of my lifetime."

"For driving that speed, or even 240, at Daytona, was more hazardous and requires more skill than 300 or even 350 at Utah. I don't think German drivers or any other drivers will exceed 300 on paved roads. The tires won't stand up over concrete at that speed. They'd simply go to pieces."

Germany's bid for Campbell's mark probably will be made in Germany or Hungary and not on the salt beds of Utah or the sands of Daytona Beach. There are several great concrete highways which run for miles without a single bend near Berlin and Budapest, and German drivers consider them just as suitable as America's natural courses. The narrowness of the racing strip doesn't seem to bother them. They have whipped the Auto-Unions down these roads at 200 without even halting regular traffic.

The honor of going for the record will be given to Hans von Stuck or Bernard Rosemeyer. Von Stuck is nearing 40 and has been the most celebrated German driver of the past 10 years but he has been outshaded a bit by Rosemeyer this season. Bernard is in his early 20's. He puts the heaviest foot on the throttle of any European driver.

Owen and Hall Tie Levings, Wilson In Golf

Vio Owen of Willowick, playing with Paul Hall, and Frank Legins of Lakewood, teamed with Earl Wilson, tied for first money in the Santa Ana Country club's pro-amateur golf tournament yesterday.

Owen and Hall posted a 33-32-65, Levings and Wilson 31-34-65.

Harry Bassler of Recreation and Dick Ewert shot a 33-34-67 to tie Roy Renwick and A. W. Robinson, an all-Santa Ana combination, for third place.

Owen, Bassler and George Lake, the latter having a two-handicap, scored 72s in the pro sweepstakes.

C. D. and C. D. Holmes Jr. won a low ball match play. They were eight up, C. W. Jordan and L. W. Bemis were six up, and A. B. Watson and E. E. Wilson five up.

YANKEES RULE 8-5 FAVORITES

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(UP)—With the long pennant races over, New York's baseball champions, the Yankees and Giants, today prepared for the opening of the world series Wednesday at the Polo Grounds. Both clubs were scheduled to engage in short workouts at their respective parks this afternoon.

All box and reserved seats for the first, second and sixth games at the Polo Grounds and third, fourth and fifth games at Yankee stadium have been sold, with only unserved and bleacher seats left. Approximately 2,000 unserved grandstand seats and 4,000 bleacher seats will be placed on sale at the Polo Grounds the day of each game. At Yankee stadium about 17,500 bleacher and 11,000 unserved grandstand seats will be placed on sale the day of each game.

A sellout at the Polo Grounds will mean a crowd of about 54,000 and at Yankee stadium about 70,000.

The Yanks continued to rule betting favorites to take the series, with the man in the street laying 8 to 5 on the Yanks. Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, quotes the Yanks as 11-20 and the Giants at 13-10. With Carl Hubbell scheduled to pitch the first game, the Giants are 7 to 5 favorites to win the opener.

Manager Joe McCarthy continues to keep his pitching choice for the opening game in doubt, but indications are that he will pick between "Red" Ruffing, his ace, and "Lefty" Gomez, who has shown signs of a pitching revival the past month.

Mid-town hotels reported the arrival of the vanguard of the world series crowds, with almost every hotel in that area turning away customers. Bus lines and railroads reported an increase in business from the south, midwest and New England.

SIX STANDOUT GAMES ON U. S. FOOTBALL CARD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Six outstanding games head this week's grid menu as the football season gets into full swing.

Features on the week-end program which will have to compete with the world series for interest are Cornell vs. Yale; Michigan vs. Michigan State; Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech; Ohio State vs. New York University; California vs. St. Mary's and Louisiana State vs. Texas.

The Yale-Cornell encounter monopolizes attention in the east with "Ducky" Pond's Elis making their initial start against the "Big Red" team of sophomores tutored by Carl Snaveley who is making his debut as head coach at Ithaca.

Army is not expected to have too much trouble in Washington and Lee and Princeton's eastern college champion Terrors have a first set-up in Williams. Other eastern games pit Gill Doble's Boston college eleven against Northeastern, Harvard's Brown and Columbia vs. Maine.

Notre Dame's Ramblers open the 1936 season against a tough opponent in Carnegie Tech, but Coach Elmer Layden is expected to pull his boys out ahead despite his gloomy predictions. The Middle West's other feature—Michigan vs. Michigan State, will furnish the answer as to whether Harry Kipke has shaken the Wolverines' lethargy.

The intersectional schedule finds Ohio State entertaining Mal Stevens' New York U. Violets, while Vanderbilt comes north to tackle Chicago, Illinois which barely eked out a decision over little DePaul last week is expected to have tough sledding even before it opens its Big Ten season when they tackle the Washington U. Bears of St. Louis next Saturday. Bob Zupke's team, however, is not the only one of the Western conference in imminent danger as Indiana meets Center college, Wisconsin plays Marquette and Northwestern takes on Iowa. Minnesota is not scheduled.

In the south the outstanding contest seems to be the Tennessee-North Carolina game. Tulane meets Alabama Polytechnic, Duke tangles with South Carolina and Alabama's Crimson Tide plays Clemson in their "best games" of the district.

Out on the Pacific Coast, California's engagement with "Slip" Madigan's Gallatin Gaels headlines the week-end card. The Stanford Indians, after an upset defeat at the hands of Santa Clara, will try to come back against Washington State. Washington vs. Idaho and U. C. L. A. vs. Montana also ornament the Far West program.

ROSS THREATENS TO CANCEL CARROLL GO

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Sam Pian, manager of Barney Ross, welterweight boxing champion, threatened today to cancel Barney's scheduled fight with Jack Carroll in Sydney, Australia, Dec. 8 unless promoters deposit a $45,000 purse and $7000 expenses by tomorrow noon.

Long Beach Next For Dons; Foote To Scout

After surveying the results of the Don 13 to 0 triumph over Glendale, Coach Bill Cook had his mind definitely made up today, to do some experimenting with the Don backfield in the hope of having a workable combination to shoot at the Long Beach Vikings in the Municipal Bowl Friday night.

Cook was not altogether pleased with the blocking of some of his backs, who, he said, repeatedly missed their men. However, the fourth quarter rally in which Ray Sides, diminutive quarterback, did his stuff, found a combination of John Lehnhardt at full, Ed Stanley, 175-pounder, and Al Lamb at halves doing some real blocking. Stanley especially looked good at his halfback spot until a Charlie horse benched him.

Other reserves who made an impression on Cook were Dick Cornhill, Hal Mossman, Dan Boyd, Jim Burkhardt, Bob Paul, Fred Pinkston, Erwin Youel and Harry Stanley.

Outstanding development of the game, of course, was the fact that Sides is going to be a mighty useful hand. Lithe and fast, as well as a nice passer, Sides will be bad news for tiring opponents.

SAINTS, DONS TO CLASH IN SCRIMMAGE

Saints and Dons, Santa Ana's two major football camps, hook up at the Municipal Bowl either Wednesday or Thursday.

The Saints have no game scheduled this weekend but Coach Bill Foote wants 'em to have a vigorous scrimmage in preparation for their Coast league game in the San Diego stadium a week from Saturday.

The high school squad also has arranged a scrimmage at Poly field tomorrow, at 3 p.

SMART & FINAL AND RED, WHITE IN BIG PICNIC

The regular annual picnic of the Red and White Food Stores and Smart and Final Co., Ltd., employees was held yesterday at Irvine park.

Getting underway at 10:30 a. m. with a baseball game the Smart and Final company team endeavored to get revenge from the trouncing they received last year at the hands of the Red and White Store owners. The final score did reveal that through long months of hard practice they finally had produced a winning team, and carried off the honors with a score of 2 to 1. Immediately following the baseball game came the horseshoe pitching contest and proved to be a game of endurance rather than a game of skill. The winners were finally adjudged to be Don McFarren and George Krook for the Red and White Stores and John Miller and Eddie Ronk for the Smart and Final company.

At 12:30 the dinner horn sounded and a crowd estimated at some 250 gathered around tables. Coffee was prepared and served by Jack Horning of the Smart and Final company.

Promptly at 2 o'clock B. R. Manker, manager of Smart and Final company, acting as master of ceremonies, called the crowd together to take part in the sports events of the day. Judges appointed to select the winners were Red and White Store owners Ben H. Baker, George Krook, Howard Hupsett, Claude Smith and Jack Wallingford, and assisting them were L. A. Parsons, Warren Webb and Walter Wooster of the Smart and Final company.

The first event on the program was an ice cream eating contest. The winners of this contest were Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Edmonds of Pomona, first prize; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gettle of Santa Ana, second prize, and Mr. and Mrs. Talbert of Talbert, third prize.

Then came the wheelbarrow race for Red and White clerks. Winners of this contest were Montrose and McFarren first prize, Wilson and Goodrich second prize and Watkins and Frazee third prize.

The women's nail driving contest was won by Mrs. Bob Andrews first prize, Mrs. Charles Edmonds second prize and Mrs. Halloway third prize.

Following the nail driving contest came the Cornet Concert. The winners were Mr. and Mrs. Montrose first prize, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Watkins second prize and Mr. and Mrs. Talbert third prize.

Next came the boys' and girls' races and the can rolling contest. Large size cans were placed on the ground and the contestants instructed to roll them with their feet to the finish line. The winners of this contest were Mrs. Charley Edmonds, first prize; Miss Goodrich, second prize, and Miss Eatep, third prize.

The string eating contest proved popular and was participated in by the men, both Red and White store owners and Smart and Final company representatives. Winners of this contest were R. A. McPhee first prize and Roy Smith second prize.

A new game, invented by B. R. Manker, was then called into play, ping pong golf. Contestants were required to hit a ping pong ball into boxes, jars and cans and to keep a record of their score. Winners of this contest were L. B. Bower, first prize; Walt Wooster, second prize, and Viola Watkins, third prize.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarren, Mr. and Mrs. Talbert and Mr. and Mrs. Fitenour won in the order given, the pop drinking contest.

Then came the grand scramble. A canvas was placed on the ground and into it was piled a ton of groceries, donated by the many food manufacturers of Southern California for this special occasion. On the side lines the men were drawn up with empty shopping bags. At a given signal the women folks were instructed to rush in, grab what they could place in the shopping bag and return for more. Moving pictures of the entire day's program were taken by Dallas Valentine and will be shown at the next general meeting of the Red and White members some time in October.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28.—Idle chatter: Fred MacMurray is the biggest sleepy-head hereabouts, except Gary Cooper. Janet Gaynor motoring to work with kinky curls riding the breeze looks more like a school girl. Peas from the same pod: Madeleine Carroll and Madge Evans. Anne Shirley sits on sets with her shoes off (my colored mummy used to do it to relieve "feet misery"). Critic's comment I never expect to see: "Lionel Barrymore over-acted." I like Jack Oakie's title for the successful Stone family (Fred, Dorothy, Paula, Carol); he calls them the "stepping Stones." Andy Devine offers the perfect reason for going into the movies: He tired of truck driving.

Strange to see Mary Kornman and Peggy Montgomery listed among movie "oldtimers," when Mary is 22 and Peggy 18. But they rate the title; they were kid stars 15 years ago. Add good fellows: Maureen O'Sullivan, Herbert Marshall is the loneliest guy ever on sets; his stand-offish air (which belies his real self) keeps folks away. One of Jack La Rue's best customers at his tiny spaghetti cafe is Mae West. Garbo occasionally betrays the glamour by some trivial act, such as begging a handful of crunch candy from a child-extra. Gladys Swarthout detests orchids and gardenias, and wears zinnia corsages. If this information starts a new fad and eases wear and tear on masculine purses, I will gladly accept the usual ten per cent fee.

Every studio has its "no man," which may sound preposterous in the face of considerable publicity about Hollywood's yes men. The lone headshake among the nods is the studio censor, and his no is as final as Sing Sing's electric seat. It is his particular task to read scripts, see daily rushes and preview pictures, always with cold fish eye cocked for censurable scenes and dialogues.

He knows precisely what will or will not go, and which localities require special deletions. Canada, for instance, is sensitive about divorce, sex and quips about royalty. Three midwestern States frown on gory stories deriding the noble Indian. Kansas turns green at sight of bars or drunks. The and Mississippians go blind mad at sight of bars or drunks. The studio censor's word is law; when he says cut, the scene goes.

Yesterday at MGM, a member of the makeup department carrying a dummy head on which sat a wig to be worn by a glamorous star passed Spencer Tracy and me. Spence eyed the apparition with twinkling orb. "That wig has more brains inside it now," he cracked, "than it will have when it puts it on!"

MINING CLASS TO BE OPENED

In response to persistent requests from the people in Santa Ana and vicinity who are interested in mines and mining, the Lathrop Evening High school is offering a class in geology and mineralogy beginning Tuesday, September 29. This course is designed to give those interested in geology or mineralogy, or anyone interested in the out-of-doors, a broad foundation of information, so as to enable them to understand basic causes for the mountains being present, and the development of ore bodies. This class will be under the direction of Lawrence Peck. Mr. Peck is a graduate of the University of Idaho where he majored in geology and mineralogy. He is now employed in the engineering department of the Irvine company.

All evening high school classes are free of charge and any adult is welcome.

Democratic Club Meets at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 28.—Seventy guests attended a luncheon at Hotel Laguna Friday under the auspices of the Orange County Women's Roosevelt-for-President club. Principal speaker was Mrs. Lucretia del Valle Grady, seion of an old California family, and wife of the secretary to Cordell Hull, secretary of state. Members and guests were presided from every part of the county.

WILL CONDUCT WRITING CLASS

Ethel K. Lockwood, whose articles "Writing to Sell" have been appearing in The Register for the past year, will have charge of creative writing in the adult education school program. Mrs. Lockwood is a "selling" writer as well as a teacher.

Her story, "Love Can Wait," written after a period of 10 months' inactivity necessitated by personal affairs, has just been bought by Street & Smith, a market to which she has been selling for the past five years.

The adult classes will start Tuesday evening at Willard school at 7 o'clock. Classes for both beginners and advanced students will be formed if the attendance warrants.

PLAN COMMUNION SERVICE SUNDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 28.—The Rev. Raymond I. Brahms returned to his pulpit at Community Presbyterian church yesterday following his attendance Friday at the Long Beach conference Friday evening, at which he spoke on the subject, "Mariner's clubs and their place in the Church." A special appeal was made, as last night's service, for full attendance at next Sunday's communion day service at 11 a. m.

Many new members are expected to join the Community church and an invitation is extended to any who wish to unite with the church to talk with the Rev. Mr. Brahms of any church elder either on Wednesday evening, or on Sunday morning prior to communion service.

Resumption of the mission study session is also announced, the first session to be held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Allen, 177 Cypress drive, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The book, "Consider Africa," will be studied, and members will sew as the book is considered. Thanks were extended to Mesdames Latimer, Giddings, Bell and Handy, in charge of floral decorations at Community church during the past month.

READ THESE FACTS
Hiding under the innocent title of "Retail Store License," Proposition 22 on the November ballot is really a new scheme for taxing the public.

Proposing to tax individual stores $1 a year and a "one over nine," it has been estimated against by 130,000 Californians because...

It Would Raise Prices
The U. S. Federal Trade Commission says: "If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost, is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

It Would Be Unfair
Not a tax for revenue, not based on the ability to pay—it is an attempt to use the taxing power to destroy competition. Small chain stores would be taxed up to 500,000 times as much per dollar of sales as big department stores.

It Would Hurt California
Chain stores now benefit California consumers, farmers, employers, property owners, taxpayers and investors. To cripple them is to hurt all California business.

Santa Ana Home Owned Business Association's "Fun Frolic and Style Show," to be staged October 8 and 9, promises to be an outstanding event, it was announced today. Further arrangements for the event will be made at a meeting in the council chambers of the city hall tomorrow night when style show committees will report. Committees were announced today.

R. A. Ewert, chairman of the executive committee, said today that the style show will be one of the most elaborate ever staged here. Models will be local girls and representatives from men's and women's clothing stores. An innovation will be the fall showing of apparel for men, modeled by professional male models.

Following the style show, a Fanchon and Marco stage show will be presented. The outer rooms of the Ebel clubhouse will house all types of amusements. General Chairman J. C. Metzger announced that each night 25 door prizes will be given away. He said door prize values will total $200, and the prizes now are on display in Vandermast's clothing store. A main prize of $75 in cash will be awarded Friday night, October 9, in addition to door prizes valued at $100 on that night.

Response from the queen contest has been gratifying, Metzger said, and to date 20 girls have entered. A $75 diamond ring, now on display at the William C. Lorenz jewelry store, will be given to the girl selling the most tickets. All girls in the contest also will receive cash awards. Tickets also are on sale at all home owned stores.

BEATTY KEEPS LION SCARS, NOT SKIN

Though some of the prettiest girls in the circus wiped a tear away, and told Clyde Beatty how much they loved Boss Tweed in life and how much they'd love to have his hide, the lion trainer turned them all down.

Boss Tweed, the handsomest, fightingest lion in Beatty's string, recently passed on to the animal heaven. And as a result will soon be showing his beautiful teeth in the light of the Cole Bros. fireplace at the winter quarters, Rochester, Indiana.

"I never had so many requests for a certain lion's hide in my life," said Clyde, "but after all the management comes first. I can understand it because he was the best-looking lion I ever had and he'll make a beautiful rug."

Clyde himself was attached to the cat, but he was giving the skin away, he explained, because he already had several mementoes to remember Boss Tweed by.

"This one here," he said, pulling up the sleeve of his shirt. He paused over the criss-crossing of scars. "Well, anyway, one of those lions from Boss Tweed as well as a deeper one in my leg."

"Boss Tweed," Clyde said, "was one of the greatest fighters I've ever seen, in addition to his noble looks. He did some of his clearest fighting in the Rochester massacre. That was this spring. When two score of lions and tigers were in the arena for a dress rehearsal. One, on a high seat, reached down to take a cuff at the cat below."

They frequently do that without much happening. But in this case the cat on the high seat fell off and landed on the one below. The one below, thinking he was attacked, started to fight. In a second it was a free-for-all."

"In such a fight the lions have two distinct advantages. Their first is their thick mane which prevents the tigers from getting to their throats. Their second is their clannish way of ganging up on a tiger. A tiger will just watch another tiger being attacked. The lions join each other. An animal attendant excitedly raised a gate into the shoot so the beasts could return to their cages. Into the shoot ran three Bengal tigers with Boss Tweed in pursuit.

"For 20 minutes they battled. Boss Tweed killed the three tigers, but himself was almost torn to ribbons. He recovered but somehow he never seemed to be the same. His spirit or his fighting nerve was gone. The other morning I opened his cage door and he was dead. For seven years I trained him, the longest of any of my cats. I was greatly attached to him."

Traveling aboard three special trains the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty circus will reach Santa Ana on Monday, October 5, at the South Main street grounds for performances at 2 and 8 p. m. An immense parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a. m.

HUSBAND ASKS
WIFE TO COME BACK TO HOME

A worried and loving husband and a weeping little baby girl are waiting at home, anxiously, for you, Consuelo Herrera. If you will come home, everybody will be happy, and if you don't want to come home any more, your husband wants to know where you are so he can send you some money to keep you from want.

That was the gist of a plea made today by Al Herrera, American-born Mexican whose chagrined American-born wife disappeared from their home the evening of September 17 and has not been seen nor heard from since. Al waits at home and so does their two-and-a-half-year-old baby daughter, Olive, for the return of wife and mother.

"If anyone knows where she is, won't they please call by telephone, No. 882, Santa Ana," pleaded Al today. "That's the home of Dr. W. S. Wehrly, in Lemon Heights, and he is helping me and Olive to try to find Consuelo. If Consuelo wants to come home, she is welcome and, if not, I want to send her some money so she will be able to live in comfort."

Consuelo, 20 years old, five feet six inches tall, weighing 133 pounds, having brown hair and eyes and wearing navy blue skirt and white blouse, left a little note on the back of a letter envelope, packed her clothes and disappeared.

The note said: "Al, please don't look for me because I am taking your gun with me and if you don't bother me, I'll send it back within a month."

Wife Leaves Note

The note was left at the Herrera home in Lemon Heights about 4 p. m. of September 17, while Al was working on the Edison ranch, a mile away, irrigating. Seven-year-old Mack Herrera, Al's brother, found it, and hurried to Al with it. Al hurried home, found Consuelo gone, then drove many miles, finally finding her walking along a road. He took her purse and removed the gun; then he went back to his work after asking

SCRIBE CHATS WITH LING PO,
REGARDING LOCAL POLITICS

By TED STEPHENSON

Dear Ling Po: Many moons have passed since I, your most humble servant, last received gems of wisdom from your so versatile pen. However, as you so sagely expressed it, "He who is patient, will eventually gather up the marbles."

Your so gracious letter, received this date, although dumbfounding in its demands, is none the less welcome. The questions propounded therein, I will only attempt to answer in part, hoping that what little information you may glean from the prattlings of this adolescent mind may be of benefit to you.

First, you ask, "Who is this man Finley, who runs for the estimable office of county supervisor in opposition to William C. Jerome?" I will answer you in this way, most revered prophet, S. S. (Steele) Finley is running for supervisor. He is not the Metropolitan Water District Finley. The MWD Finley is Col. S. H. Finley, and he has not even the slightest intention of running for office. There has been no end of confusion on that point, many people laboring under the delusion that Candidate Finley and MWD Finley are one and the same person. As you yourself once said, "Neither one is the other, nor is the other one the one."

Many years ago, Ling Po, I really let drop a political gem worthy of your own venerable intellect. He said, "All the ten to one shots were in the rear, and a dark horse, which the careless had never even observed in the lists, rushed past the grandstand in sweeping triumph."

This remark was made after the race was won. The question, as you say, is who is the horse of dark hue being overlooked in Orange county's lists. You have intimated that there might be one, but for the life of me, Ling Po, I can't spot him.

The "Dark Horse" moniker certainly can't apply to Collins or the Townsendites' Harry Shepard. Maybe it's the Progressives' E. E. Sprague of Redlands, who is, in his own words, building fences for the distant future. He's in the race, you know, and the question uppermost in the minds of both GOP and Bourbon stable hands is, whom will he hurt the most.

Sprague is undoubtedly the 19th congressional district's Little Lembo. His followers are the "tars among the wheat," as it were. Come harvest time, there's going to be a mad scramble for the wheat, and no one knows just now which crew can gather the biggest crop.

Now, most honored one, let me propound a question. Pray pardon my audacity, but is it true what they say about Harry Westover? What I mean is, did he really appoint the so damp Ham Cotton to the Democratic State Central committee? He is damp, isn't he? Or was that a tea party that he slung (or is it slang—yes, it is slang) at his love fest at the Cotton ranch nearly a year ago? It's just a question, Ling Po. If it bothers you, just skip it.

INJURED IN CRASH

DANA POINT, Sept. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Milligan were painfully but not seriously injured when their car hit a truck trailer which was parked on the Coast highway just west of Dana Villa Thursday night. Their car was badly damaged. Mrs. Milligan's head went through the windshield and was badly cut. Mr. Milligan was cut on the face by flying glass.

The south magnetic pole was determined most accurately in 1909, by Lieutenant Shackleton, at about 73 degrees south latitude and 156 degrees east longitude.

UNUSUAL TREE
BEARS APPLES OF TWO KINDS

By MALCOLM BOSTWICK

If it's true what they say about apples—and one of them per day really does keep the doctor away—then the W. H. Pranke family, of 920 West Fairview avenue, must be fit as a fiddle all the year 'round.

Not only have the Prankes a full-bearing apple tree on their half-acre home tract along Fairview, but that same apple tree bears two complete crops of apples each year and each crop is of a different variety. As if that weren't something of a surprise in itself, in Sunny California, both varieties grow side by side, upon the same branches!

"It is still a mystery to me," Mrs. Pranke declared. "I have heard of expert grafting of different varieties of fruit upon one tree but I never have heard, before, of two varieties of fruit which grow side by side as though they were one."

The Prankes don't know the names of the two varieties except that they're both "good." The crop which is ready now, bearing a large, 3-1/2-inch mellow apple of pale green color, makes tasty pie and apple sauce and wonderful apple butter, Mrs. Pranke says. The second crop arrives in January or February, bearing a much smaller, 1-1/2-inch to 2-inch, pear-shaped solid apple. It is cherry-red with white "cheek" and also can be used for pies or eating raw, but is not quite so delicious because of its hardness. Right now, with the larger apples rapidly maturing, the smaller ones are growing steadily, to be ready for the second crop period.

Tree Was Forlorn

A surprising part of the story of the Pranke apple tree is its origin as far as the Prankes are concerned. When the family moved to their present home eight years ago, the tree looked forlorn and hopeless. So they cut down the old apple tree—within three or four inches of its base—believing it was about to die, anyhow. Suddenly, or almost suddenly—new

Santa Ana Occasions Newspaper Article In Winnipeg

Coming from Winnipeg in distant Manitoba is a recent issue of the Winnipeg Evening Tribune, whose chief interest to Santa Ana lies in one of its stories regarding a Santa Ana resident, Mrs. J. Albert Dennis, who almost three decades ago was society editor on the Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis are enjoying an extended visit in various Canadian points, and while in Winnipeg have been entertained in the home of their nephew, Howard S. Cameron. Both enjoyed renewing associations on the newspaper where they had been employed nearly 30 years earlier.

Mrs. Dennis had come from her native Nova Scotia to Winnipeg where she took the post of society editor, having already worked on papers which her husband had owned in Nova Scotia.

The article describing her visit to the newspaper office which she had once served, compared present conditions and affairs with those when she was editor of the women's department. She had instituted among other features, one run each Sunday on "Women Who Win," forerunner of the paper's present feature, "Album of Winnipeg Women." Painting was a hobby in her spare time, and one of her pictures now hangs on the walls of the Women's Press club, an institution for which she worked faithfully.

Church Societies

Class Election
Officers were elected Friday night at a meeting of B. Z. McKinney's class of Spurgeon Memorial church in the home of the Misses Dorothy and Mildred Montgomery, 710 West Sixth street.

Miss Dorothy Montgomery was named president; Miss Martha Heemstra, first vice-president; Miss Virginia Anthony, second vice-president; Miss Mildred Montgomery, third vice-president; Miss Janice Yetmar, fourth vice-president; Bob Walton, secretary-treasurer. Appointed on the music committee were Marvin Walton and Erma Baxter Owen.

The group enjoyed covered-dish dinner to precede other events of the evening.

Sharing the affair were the Misses Dorothy Montgomery, Mildred Montgomery, Clarine Palmer, Leona Baxter, Amanda Poor, Blanche temple, Virginia Anthony, Vena Jones, Janice Yetmar, Martha Heemstra, Henrietta Heemstra, Mary Blakeman, Kitty Walton, Messrs. Bob Walton, Marvin Walton, Thomas Boyd, Wesley Farney; Mrs. L. C. Mead and Erma Baxter Owen.

Spurgeon Tea
Mrs. Alison Honer opened her attractive home at 2415 French street, for the quarterly tea of Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society, an event held Friday afternoon with the assistance of Jubilee Circle members, who planned the program.

All present joined in the opening song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," which was followed by prayer by Mrs. Wilbur Johnson, and the Bible lesson read by Mrs. Robert Schostag from Exodus 17.

The musicale which followed included solos by Erma Baxter with Mrs. Maude Hamilton as accompanist; violin solo by Richard Honer with Mrs. Honer at the piano; reading by little Virginia Haughton; piano duet by the little Misses Norma and Elinor Herzig, and accordion solos by Miss Dorothy Eginton.

All the guests joined zestfully in a lively spelling game introduced by Mrs. Honer and which was followed by the final hospitality, the serving of refreshments by Jubilee circle members.

SOUTHLAND WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Straub were expected to return today to their home, 919 Lacy street, from San Diego where they went to attend the wedding yesterday of their daughter, Miss Celestia Straub, to David Hargis, a radio technician and petty officer in the Navy.

Miss Straub went to San Diego early last week to be a guest of relatives there in advance of the wedding. She is recognized as one of this city's most gifted younger writers, her poetic ability having been recognized first in her high school days and later during her course at junior college. She has had her poems in three editions of "First the Blade," poetry anthology of California colleges, and took first place in a state-wide contest.

Sorority Uses Nautical Idea In Party Plan

Embarking on the good ship Beta Sigma Phi, Sigma chapter members of that sorority and a group of guests last night shared an unusually delightful cruise after they had secured their "passports" at the home of Miss Katherine Spicer, 2415 North Main street.

For it was in Miss Spicer's home that the first course of a progressive dinner was served, and she adhered faithfully to the nautical theme of the evening by appearing in seaman's garb, correct even to the detail of the captain's gold-braided cap. She had planned the amusing game of "Turn of Mind," quite descriptive of the state of mind in which each guest found herself until she had succeeded in guessing her supposed identity, thus winning her passport.

For the sea-food cocktail served by two convincing stewards, Messrs. Arthur Flint of San Pedro, and Robert Callis of San Juan Capistrano, guests found places at an interesting table. It's cover of fishnet, complete even to the large corals, was spread over sea-blue cellophane. A nautical lamp with anchor base, the frozen spray of coral and many pearly shells were features of table decorations. Favors were match-books bearing the sorority crest.

Island Atmosphere
With Hawaii as their first port of call, passengers ploughed the seas to the Sam Cash home, 1141 West Pine street, where Mrs. Cash (Caroline Smith) and Mrs. Robert Callis (Dorothy Lindsay) presented lib favors and served a molded pineapple salad amidst appointments suggesting the Islands. Ample entertainment was provided in being allowed to inspect the charming home, in the early American period with its maple furniture, handsome broadloom carpets and fine etchings. Even the gay red and white kitchen came in for its share of interest.

Italy was suggested at the home of Miss Elsie Siemsen, 1810 North Main street, and the passengers disembarked. It was to hear Italian folk music, with Miss Ethel Campbell of Tau chapter, Anaheim, as artist. She sang various songs to her own piano-accompaniment, including what she termed an "International Arrangement," with words of her own composing.

The Italian spaghetti served with other foods in keeping, was enjoyed to the accompaniment of peasant table covers, candles flickering in oddly shaped bottles and other colorful details. For the dessert course, the party cruised to the Frank Morrison home, 1341 South Van Ness avenue, where Mrs. Morrison (Ione Hansen) gave the correct Holland atmosphere by using quaint Dutch lamps, tiny wooden shoe nut cups, and windmill cakes served with a frozen dessert and coffee.

She introduced Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, who, turning from her customary thoughtful book reviews, proved her skill as a palmist by reading the hands of each member and guest in turn. These complimented guests included the Misses Juanita Pico (a descendant of Governor Pio Pico, last of California's Spanish governors), Edith Lindquist, Eunice Spicer, Ellen Frazee, Ruth Wagner and Shirley Haynes. Beta Sigma Phi hostesses were the Misses Marie LaBrucherie, Delphine Lopez, Laura Malin, Elsie Siemsen, Lillian McDonald, Mildred Staples, Lucie McDermott, Ruth Stevenson, Katherine Spicer, Isabelle Stracusa, Lena May Willsey, Jean Enna, Mary Ford, Mary Louise Wallace, Mesdames Robert Callis, Sam Cash and Frank Morris.

Study Theme of Russia Launched by Ebell Third Travelers

In pursuance of a plan adopted by Ebell Third Travel section members to stage three luncheon sessions during the club year, they made one of these programmed events, their opening meeting during the past week. Mrs. Rolla Hays placed her delightful summer home on Balboa Island at the convenience of the luncheon committee composed of Mrs. Perry Lewis, chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. L. Madden and a group representing one-third of the section membership.

It was in the recently completed patio of the home that guests were grouped for the perfectly appointed luncheon, with the tempting menu seasoned with greetings after a summer recess. The business session which followed was led by Mrs. S. A. Moore. After appointment of Miss Ida Nay as press correspondent, there was introduction of one new member, Mrs. Jessie White, and announcement that the year's work was starting with the full quota of 40 members and a long waiting list. During this interval two absent members were especially mentioned, Mrs. P. A. Robinson, ill at her home, 219 East Washington avenue, and Mrs. C. P. Boyer, so recently embarked on a world tour which promises future interesting programs for her sister Travelers of the section.

Mrs. Anita Alexander of the reference department of Santa Ana library, was guest speaker and was introduced by Miss Preble Drake, program chairman. Russia has been selected as study topic of the year, so Mrs. Alexander laid a foundation for future programs by her fine talk on the geography and ethnology of the country. She traced the origin of the Russians, their religion, racial peculiarities and superstitions, and used maps in describing geographical conditions and racial trends.

For their October meeting, section members will hear Mrs. John A. Tessmann talk on "Early History of Russia." This will be the annual guest night, and is being eagerly anticipated by members and their friends.

Houseparty on Island Attended by Many Club Members

Setting up a tentative program of activities for the year, the cabinet of Wrycende Macdonald club was joined by other members and guests for an annual house party over the weekend in the Reeder home on North Bay front, Balboa Island.

Miss Roma Mayes, general chairman of the party, and Miss Rose Lesh, in charge of food, had arranged a pleasant affair which drew members will hear Mrs. John A. Tessmann talk on "Early History of Russia." This will be the annual guest night, and is being eagerly anticipated by members and their friends.

In the group were the Misses Genevieve Humiston, Dorothy Decker, Rowena Newcomb, Kay Blank, Virginia Anthony, Elsie Siemsen, Mary Ford, Marge Livezey, Marian Turman, Jean Enna, Rose Lesh, Orine Olson, Marion Minor, Cecelia Plantamura, Marie Smith, Ruth Wagner, Carolyn Cushing, Florence Pahl, Janice Yetmar, Dorothy Jesse, Catherine Walbridge, Roma Mayes, Ruth Hilyard and Mrs. William Fritcher.

Chapters Give Reception For District Head

Guests from various Southland points were present Saturday night for a reception which Hermosa chapter O. E. S. and other groups of the Southland joined in giving in Masonic temple in compliment to Mrs. James Tarpley of this city, deputy grand matron of the 57th district.

In the host group with Hermosa chapter were Santa Ana chapter, San Clemente, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, Orange and Garden Grove chapters. On the reception committee were Mrs. H. T. Trueblood, Mrs. Joe C. Burke, Dr. J. E. Paul, John Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormac.

Miss Mame Havens served as piano accompanist throughout the evening. Mrs. Beesie Meyer was chairman; Mildred Taylor, marshal; Dr. Cassius Paul, master of ceremonies.

Charmingly gowned in red satin, with an arm bouquet of chrysanthemums, Mrs. Tarpley was escorted into the reception room by Roy V. Shaffer, who was worthy patron in 1935 when Mrs. Tarpley was worthy matron.

Many Gifts
Gifts for Mrs. Tarpley included an overnight bag from Mr. Tarpley. While Mrs. Vera Jacoby read an appropriate poem written by Alice Smith, worthy matron of Huntington Beach, matrons and patrons of 1936 made presentation of their gift to her. There were remembrances from deputies of 1936; from officers who served with the honor guest in 1935 and from various other associations.

Visiting marshals and chaplains escorted matrons and patrons from their own organizations. These included Gwendolyn Thompson and Carl Thomas, Orange; Henrietta Bohling and W. G. Lewis, Hermosa; Jean McAdams, David Todd, Huntington Beach; Flora Bruns, Carlyle Dennis, Santa Ana chapter; Alice Smith, Carlyle Clark, Garden Grove; Mabel Lambert, Bursas and Mason, Laguna Beach; Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, San Clemente.

Others escorted were ten visiting deputy grand matrons: Ruth Nelson, grand Ada; all matrons and patrons of 1936; all past matrons and patrons of Hermosa chapter; eight of Mrs. Tarpley's sister past matrons of 1928.

Telegrams read included a message from Bertie Y. Todd, worthy grand matron.

The program included songs by Mrs. Clay Williams, who had selected "House by the Side of the Road" and "Friend of Mine," two of Mrs. Tarpley's favorite numbers. Irving Williams of Huntington Beach played accordion solos; the De Molay quartet, accompanied by Lorene Croddy Graves, sang selections; Miss Betty Jane Moore gave readings; Miss Henrietta Bohling and Mr. Lewis gave short talks; Pearl Livesey sang.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall, where tables were set with pottery. Coffee was served by Fannie Reeves, Minna Atkinson, Marian Wallace, Jean Trueblood, Adelaide Safley, Irene Mitchell. Decorations were in charge of Helen Lurker, while Elizabeth Lewis was head of the refreshment committee.

The next meeting of Hermosa chapter, October 5 in the temple will be preceded by a covered-dish dinner in celebration of the 48th anniversary of the group.

Sigma Thetas Receive Many Guests at Formal Tea

Sigma Theta sorority members extended a pretty compliment to a number of guests yesterday afternoon when they were hostesses at a formal rush tea which had its setting in the home of Miss Virginia Curry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Curry, 2303 Santiago avenue.

Miss Jeannette Lewis, president of the sorority, Miss Curry, Miss Gladys Marguerat and Miss Ruth Baker greeted guests at the door. Mrs. Joseph Irwin and Mrs. Ernest Stump Jr. poured tea, presiding at a table made lovely with a mirrored centerpiece of blossoms and candles in yellow and white, the sorority colors. The Misses Katherine Harbert and Joan Baker assisted in serving. Two pledges, the Misses Margaret Thomas and Priscilla Carroll aided in working out plans for the affair.

Members present were Miss Curry, in turquoise blue crepe; Miss Harbert, black moire with duobonnet trimming; Miss Lewis, in black and silver crepe with lace trimming; Mrs. Irwin, pink crepe tunic; Mrs. George Bradley, blue and white organza; Miss Gladys Marguerat, duobonnet velvet; Miss Martha Wallingford, black and silver lace; Miss Ernest Stump Jr., navy blue satin; Miss Ruth Baker, yellow crepe; Miss Mary Jane Baker, rust satin; Miss Joan Baker, turquoise crepe.

The group's next affair of the rush season will be an Italian dinner Wednesday evening.

PICTURES TO REMAIN

Saturday's exhibition of paintings by Bertha T. Coler, presented in Bowers Memorial Museum in connection with a delightful talk by the artist, met with such widespread interest, that those who failed to see the paintings and meet the artist, will like to know that the pictures will be retained for tomorrow and Thursday's open days at the Museum.

One of the largest crowds yet assembling for these occasional artist teas, gathered at the museum Saturday afternoon, and manifested close interest in the talk by Mrs. Coler, who told of her painting expeditions into Mexico, and described the art of native artists. Among the guests were three from Santa Monica and five from Lomita, who had heard Mrs. Coler before and were eager to renew the experience.

The artist is planning another trip into Mexico later this fall, where she will continue both her sketching expeditions and her studies of the fine examples of lanterns, shrine and altar decorations, and other fascinating examples of intricate work by the natives.

During the last 60 years, the number of birds in the United States has decreased 75 per cent.

Young People Are Wedded At Morning Rites

Sunday morning at 8:15 o'clock brought a quiet wedding ceremony in Episcopal Church of Messiah, where Miss Hesper Louise Turner, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Turner, 409 East Fifth street, became the bride of James Preston Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bradford, 1514 Spurgeon street.

The Rev. W. J. Hatter officiated at the beautiful Episcopal service, for which the altar was banked with yellow and white blossoms. The bride wore a navy blue crepe ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. She was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Alice Bradford, who was attired in a brown crepe frock with matching costume details. The bridegroom's brother, Robert Bradford of Hollywood, former Santa Ana who is prominent in the musical world, was best man.

Following the ceremony was a wedding breakfast in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, where guests were seated at a table centered with pompon chrysanthemums. Sharing the affair with the bride couple were Mrs. Minnie Turner, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bradford, Miss Alice Bradford, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hatter, the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Kate M. Bradford, Mrs. Alice Meacham, I. N. Camp, William Lage, all of this community; with Mrs. Turner's sister-in-law, Mrs. John Olson and daughter, Mrs. John Olson of Portland, Ore., who left today for the north after a short visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradford were unable to remain for the wedding breakfast, since they had a musical engagement to fill early Sunday morning. Robert Bradford is a soloist and his wife a pianist of note.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Bradford left for a honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara, planning to return south to establish their home in San Fernando within the next few days. The bridegroom, a graduate of Polytechnic High school, formerly was a member of Camtando club. His bride is a graduate of San Juan Capistrano High school.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBERS SHOW FALL FASHIONS

By MARAH ADAMS

ORANGE, Sept. 28.—Fall fashions exemplified by attractive models were shown at the fashion show and card party sponsored by the Junior Matrons' section of the Orange Woman's club Saturday afternoon. Two hundred and eighty tickets were sold for the event, with nearly that number seated at card tables in the clubrooms for the afternoon's play.

Mrs. Henry Walsworth, president of the section, headed the hostess committee and Mrs. George Everett Peterson, head of the ways and means committee, was in charge of arrangements for the event.

Fashions modeled included those for early morning wear, including lounging pajamas in gay contrasting colors, sports frocks and glamorous evening gowns.

Models were Miss Mary Tom Cox of the Junior Women's club, Mrs. Thomas J. Rhone, member of the Junior Matrons' section; Mrs. Gordon X. Richmond and Mrs. Paul K. Nelson of the Junior Matrons' section; Mrs. George H. Peterson, Mrs. V. D. Johnson and Mrs. B. D. Stanley of the Woman's club; Mrs. Jo Lykke, of Santa Ana and Miss Olga Craemer of Olive, professional models.

Description Read
As each model appeared on the stage and made a tour of the clubroom, a description of the garment, she was wearing was read by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner. Zinnias in many vivid shades were used in the decorations and prizes provided for each card table were white pottery bowls filled with baby zinnia blooms.

Coronation splendor was reflected in the many velvet frocks for sport, afternoon and evening wear. Miss Cox, a lovely blonde, was especially attractive in orange and deep blue pajamas and a blue swaggar suit with shirt maker blouse, blue purse and hat and blue shoes with white buckles. Mrs. Gordon X. Richmond modeled effectively a grey coat of hand-woven material with fur-like depths and she was very lovely in an evening gown of claret velvet of a texture like the petals of an American beauty rose.

Mrs. Rhone, a petite blond, wore with charm a dark red street frock with dark red shoes and smart black hat, gloves and purse and especially desirable evening frock of blue velvet with rhinestone bows. Mrs. Nelson modeled among other frocks and suits a becoming black velvet tunic frock and a maroon outfit with long coat and leg of mutton sleeves.

Royal Purple Velvet
Mrs. V. D. Johnson wore with stunning effect an eggplant knitted suit with grey purse, grey hat and black shoes and a blue velvet formal with brocade sleeves. Frocks modeled by Mrs. Stanley included a formal of royal purple velvet trimmed with white ruching and an afternoon dress of black with a striking note of color in the lovely velvet flower corsage. Mrs. George H. Peterson exemplified fall smartness in a street outfit of a new shade of brown in a mixed wool. With this she wore a becoming high crowned hat and green shoes trimmed with brown leather. One of the striking afternoon frocks she modeled was a black tunic frock brightened by three varied colored velvet flowers.

Miss Craemer included in models she wore a rose moire with flaring lines and sleeves puffed high above the neckline and a dark rust suit trimmed with black astrakhan, and Mrs. Lykke's frocks included a smart black satin formal with train and belt of white gardenias and a beautiful lace gown.

Refreshments of gingerbread and whipped cream were served by a group of Junior Matrons and Girl Scouts including Virginia Wilbur, Eleanor Taylor, Marjorie Short, Marie Kast, Eleanor Schmidt, Pauline Sterans, Catherine Wood and Virginia Sharar.

who had contemplated going to Persia to the Standard Oil company's camp, will remain here.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

Slain in War For Liberation

SOUTH AMERICA was rising in revolt against Spain early in the 19th century, and Simon Bolivar was its guiding genius. Among his subordinates was Antonio Jose de Sucre, a courageous Venezuelan who had enlisted under Bolivar at the age of 16. Eleven years later he gained his first great victory at Pichincha.

The victory placed him in command of Bolivar's army in Peru, and soon his energy and genius helped bring defeat to Spain. As a result, that part of Peru that became Bolivia elected him its first president.

But the constitution which Bolivar forced upon the new country was too much for Sucre, and he resigned and left the country. Sucre was on his way back to Bolivia, in 1826, seeking to reform its administration, when a band of assassins murdered him. He was only 35 years old. Five years later the capital of Bolivia adopted the name of Sucre in his honor.

OFFICER WILD HAS WILD TIME IN AUTO CHASE

California Highway Patrolman Harry Wild is wearing a red face today, taking it on the chin from fellow patrolmen, and in general suffering from embarrassment.

It all started yesterday at 4:30 p. m., when the officer stopped a car on 101 highway because four people were riding in the front seat. Three others were in the rumble seat. The driver of the car, Jose Martinez, 30, Los Angeles, stepped to the pavement, and the officer immediately suspected him of being drunk.

The owner of the car, name not revealed by the officer, was ordered to drive to a nearby intersection and turn the car around. Martinez was detained by the officer, but when the other car disappeared around the corner, Wild hailed a youth in another car, and asked him to watch his prisoner while he went in pursuit of the escaping car. He even put handcuffs on Martinez, "so that his guard would feel safer," Wild told officers today.

The missing car was soon overtaken, but when the officer returned, he found his prisoner, handcuffed and all, had escaped. A search was started, and while Wild was looking through an orange orchard, assisted by Anaheim police, Patrolman Lloyd Groover came by and saw the handcuffed man standing near the car that had been the cause of it all. He stopped, took charge of the handcuffed man and the occupants of the car, and proceeded to the county jail.

Wild returned, and found them all gone. He was told that a man in a brown car had taken them.

Two companions of Martinez, Raymond Lopez, Los Angeles, and Raymond Martinez, Delhi, were arrested on drunk charges. Today they started sentences of five days each in the county jail, following their conviction in the Anaheim justice court.

PEARSON OF YANKEES OUT OF BIG SERIES?

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The Yankees' world series stock took a drop today when it became known Monte Pearson, who was scheduled to start the third game against the Giants, will be out of the series unless his ailing back improves in the next few days.

Pearson, who won 19 games and lost 7 this season, had to retire in the seventh inning of a game against the Athletics last Thursday with a pain in his back. He has been in bed for the past three days and has shown little improvement.

If Pearson fails to round into shape, Pat Malone will move up behind Ruffing and Gomez as the Yankees' No. 3 starter.

Manager Bill Terry today decided to shift the Giants' batting order for the series, moving Mel Ott from third to the clean-up position, Jimmy Rippe, rookie center-fielder, will be dropped from fourth to fifth, and Terry will bat third.

PLANNING CONSULTANT SEES COUNTY AS RECREATION CENTER, IN C. OF C. ADDRESS

Visioning Orange county's main attraction as a recreational center, L. Deming Tilton, planning consultant, was the featured speaker at a membership luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce this noon in the Green Cat cafe. The meeting was combined with a meeting of Community Chest officials.

Tilton, introduced by Nat. T. Neff, county superintendent of roads, outlined the history of recreation and pointing out the peculiar advantages of Orange county for planned recreational centers which would attract thousands of visitors to this county.

He pointed out that in a check made, 4500 cars and more than 14,000 people used the 125 acres in Irvine park in a single day. Besides this park, the county has the beaches, wooded sections and beautiful hills which nature already has provided for playgrounds. Tilton said. He pointed out that the entire community surrounding Newport Harbor is devoted exclusively to the idea that it is a recreational center. He said the local planning commission will try to make a survey of recreational spots that could be improved.

In his introduction, Neff pointed out that Tilton has an enviable record as an authority on planning, being state director of planning for the state planning board and having been co-author of huge planning projects for big cities and counties throughout the United States.

Members of the county planning commission present included J. W. Markel, W. K. Hillyard, O. L. Hall, Louis G. Bushard, N. H. Neff and Supervisor W. C. Jerome. Roy Kennedy, president of the chamber, presided. New members of the chamber were introduced.

MUSKRATS OFTEN BUILD THEIR HOMES ON FLOATING MAN-MADE RAFTS.

BIRDS AND EASY SAILING ABOVE A STEAMER FOR TWO REASONS: AIR CURRENTS ARE DEFLECTED UPWARD BY THE SHIP'S MOVEMENT, AND WARM AIR FROM THE FUNNELS ALSO CAUSES RISING AIR COLUMNS.

EXPERIMENTS have been made by placing rafts in water frequented by muskrats, and it has been found that the rats quickly take advantage of the floats as a base for their homes. They always build near one edge of the raft, however, with one part of the house overhanging the edge. This affords them an underwater entrance.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNE, pretty airplane stewardess, falls in love with TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot who flies the trans-Pacific route.

Ted, however, is not interested in romance. He is devoted to two interests: his job in the air service and his adopted son, DICKIE, 7 years old. Dickie and Kay become fast friends and soon the three spend much time together.

One night Kay and Ted have a long talk in which he explains his views on marriage. To be successful, he says, a marriage must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. Kay does not object to all this, but when he asks her to marry him she says yes.

The marriage takes place and the honeymoon is a flight to the Orient. Later, with Ted away for weeks at a time, Kay is lonely. She tries to keep busy, caring for her home and for Dickie. Ted is working on an invention, when he is in port, spends less and less time at home.

Kay is deeply disappointed because he is unable to be home for Christmas. She gives a dinner party and later goes with three friends, DORIS LEE, RALPH BAYNS and MONTE BLAINE, to dance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

WHEN Ted returned home, three days after Christmas, Kay met him at the dock with Dickie at her side.

"The little wife waiting with open arms," she thought, as the giant flying ship settled down in the harbor and taxied up to the landing.

"Was old Santa Claus good to you?" Ted said to Dickie. "Sorry I didn't make it home with my presents in time for the tree, but I've got them in my duffle bag."

"And what do you want?" he said to Kay.

She looked up at him. "You always seem to know just what I want, Ted," she said quietly. "But nothing special? Nothing in jade to match those gorgeous eyes?"

"Oh, Ted, don't tease!" she said. "Of course I'm dying to see what you brought."

He took a box from his pocket and opened it, disclosing the loveliest jade bracelet she had ever seen.

"Oh, it's beautiful!" She stood up on her toes and kissed him. But they were both strangely quiet during the drive back to the house built on the sands. Ted sensed that something had come between them.

He said, "Darling, you're not worried about anything?"

"Did I miss a big Christmas dinner? Whom did you invite?" "Doris and her crowd. And, of course, Jerry."

"I'm glad you asked Jerry," Ted said. "We hadn't missed a Christmas dinner together for almost 20 years."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE EXHIBITS ATTRACTS

Hundreds of persons have visited the Christian Science Monitor exhibit at 114 East Fourth street since it was opened Tuesday morning. It is stated by those in charge, Windows which are outstanding in interest have attracted wide attention. Both windows have a theme international in scope and the east window stresses progress in international education in which the Monitor has played an important part.

Journalism classes from a number of schools are to visit the exhibit before it closes, at 7 p. m. Wednesday. It will be open to night and tomorrow until 9 p. m., and opens in the morning at 8:30 a. m.

Scrap book and posters make the display instructive and educational is the theme stressed. Flowers and plants add to the beauty of the exhibit room.

MEXICAN STABBED IN KNIFE BATTLE

A fight, which assertedly started when Salencia Figuero, Stanton, made alleged improper advances toward a small girl Saturday night, resulted in the knifing of Jose Mascarenos, 40, also a resident of Stanton. The injured man is in the county hospital, where it was reported today that his condition is not serious.

According to a report filed by Deputies Harvey Gulick and Ezra Stanley, Figuero was visiting at the Mascarenos home Saturday evening, where the pair drank wine furnished by Figuero. Later, they both went to bed.

Figuero assertedly got out of bed and started annoying the small daughter of a neighbor, and was interrupted by an elderly man named S. Hernato. The fight progressed to the front yard, where Mascarenos is said to have broken a one gallon jug of wine over Hernato's head. Hernato retaliated with a fish knife, and stabbed Mascarenos below the heart.

Suffering from loss of blood and shock, the wounded man was taken to the hospital by the deputies. No complaint has been signed, and no arrests have been made in the case.

Court Notes

An automobile crash that occurred September 1 on Clay street, Huntington Beach, was made the basis of a lawsuit in superior court today, as Earl C. Crawford, one of the drivers, sued Sam Terry, the other driver, for $10,500 damages and costs. Crawford was injured in the crash, he alleged.

"Tolerate!" Kay exclaimed. "Monte goes out with a pretty girl in Honolulu to dance, and you can't tolerate it?"

"That wasn't my information," Ted said slowly. "Monte disobeyed rules."

"He's not a machine. He can't go on and on, like your airplanes, until he's used up and junked!" Ted eyed her. There was in his look the quiet resolution that she had once admired so much. He said, quietly, "Kay, who knows men better—you or I? Who knows flying qualities better? I've seen aviation from its infancy. For five years we planned this trans-Pacific flight—scientifically."

"Plan, plan, plan!" she said. "I'm sick of the word."

Ted smiled indulgently, and it made Kay more furious. "Don't look at me as though you were indulging a silly little girl!" she exclaimed.

For the first time Ted looked troubled. But he let her continue. "This home," Kay went on, "is just a place where you rest your weary head. The little wife, waiting in port with open arms. Poor, simple thing with her household duties! A well-ordered life ashore. Dickie is just a reflection of yourself—an eagle! Where do I fit in? I'm a glorified housekeeper!"

"Kay! Kay!" Ted said, "you don't mean all that. You've let some gossip prey on your mind. You're hysterical."

"Look at me," she said, on the verge of tears. "I married a man, and now what have I become—a trained engineer! I wanted you to be crazy about me. I thought we'd have fun together. We're human—not robots or gyrophils. Automatic steering devices in a plane."

"Kay!" Ted tried compassionately, gathering her into his arms. "You don't mean what you're saying. I have my job, and I have you. I can't be with you as much as other men who have jobs on land can be with their wives, but I do love you, Kay. I'm crazy about you. It wouldn't matter to me if you threw all the house-keeping overboard, and hired a raft of servants! But I don't think you'd want that. Now what do you want?"

Kay was sobbing on his shoulder, and he held her closer. "I don't know what I want," she said, "except you! I want to enjoy more things with you. I want you to care whether I'm happy."

He laughed and picked her up in his arms.

THOSE BUILDING LOTS

Gradually the cost of building lots is creeping upward. In the less expensive bracket we still find a lot on Fairview for $400, one on East Myrtle for $400, one on S. Van Ness for $400, one on Santa Clara for $400. Others, of course, but these are representative—all excellent lots worthy of a good home. We recommend that you purchase yours immediately.

FRENCH DEVALUATION

The French government will again devalue the franc to the extent of 33 per cent, according to news reports the first of this week. Since the war, they have already devaluated it by 80 per cent so that the amount of gold under the new devaluation will be approximately 13 per cent of what it was before the war. In France, after the war, prices rose 600 per cent, while in United States they rose only 250 per cent; in England 300 per cent, and in Italy 700 per cent. These high prices, after the war, of course, were due to excessive credit used as a medium of exchange. When prices, as contracts were entered into on an inflated basis in France, fell from the 600 per cent inflation, it of course was impossible to maintain those contracts without doing a great injustice to the creditors. This was the same condition that existed in the United States and forced the United States to devalue the dollar in '33.

Students of history and economics do not believe that this will be the final devaluation in France, England or the United States. So long as people believe that wages are not a commodity and can be artificial, there can be no money that has a permanent storage value. The artificial wages, or the wages that are not based on competition, eventually take such a large fraction of the national production that those wages that are on a comparative basis have practically nothing left for their work. This necessitates a new measure of value; that is, a new kind of money that reduces the real wages of those who have established them on a collective bargaining, or "wish," basis. One violation of the law of freedom—the law of choice—necessitates the violation of other laws of freedom. Without sound wages there can be no sound money and, as a result, savings will be greatly curtailed and real wages of all the people greatly reduced.

THROWING TALENT AWAY

The principal reason regimentation, or socialism, which are the same thing, are undesirable, is that there is a state of civilization a much greater degree of difference in intelligence than there is in a state of barbarism; that, under state socialism, there is only one head who can use initiative. Initiative of the millions of other workers, including all the geniuses of the country, must be subjugated to the will and the intellect of the regimenter or the voting majority.

Thus, in reality, we are obliged to throw away and lose the benefit of the initiative and the free enterprise and the creative ability of those who have the highest degree of intelligence.

Regimentation, or socialism, means coercion, suppression. It means the greatest waste in the world—the waste of human talents.

Competition, of course, is wasteful but is infinitely less wasteful than turning things over to one bureau.

ECONOMIC DELIRIUM TREMENS

Colonel Knox, in his address at Los Angeles, characterized the last 3-1-2 years as one of economic delirium tremens.

It would seem that the description would be more accurate if it included the last quarter of a century as being a period of economic delirium tremens, with the principal escapade or convulsion being most noticeable and pronounced the last seven years.

We are now taking more stimulant to soothe the patient, who is still under the effects of delirium tremens—to soothe his nerves. The ultimate result eventually will be another convulsion of delirium tremens.

REGISTER CLEARING HOUSE

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor Register: A few days ago citizens observed the 149th anniversary of the American Constitution. Many of them are now wondering whether it will remain the bulwark of our individual liberties or whether it will become honeycombed and riddled by false interpretations the result of the actions of an administration which is beset with the vagaries of State Socialism.

Many good believing folks doubt that the President if he had a chance would park the Supreme Court in order to regiment America and shackle free enterprise with innumerable regulations. However the putrid deal put over in New York a few months ago may cause them to revise their opinions. I refer to the appointment for life by President Roosevelt of two federal judges, one a Mr. Clancy, the rubber stamp of Boss Flynn of Brooklyn and the other a Mr. Mandelbaum, the protégé of Boss Dooling of Tammany. These Roosevelt appointments were so surprisingly bad that even a supporting paper like the World-Telegram denounced them in the strongest language. The administration did not even make a defense of these appointments. Even Senator Copeland protested and the best lawyers of New York voiced their astonishment. Frank Kent, the Democratic Washington correspondent said that "the President must feel rather desperate to make that type of judicial appointments" and also said, "It is too revealing of what he might do with the Supreme Court if he gets the chance."

Only a short time ago, serious thinking and eminent lawyers of both political parties presented a report to the American Bar Association stating, "There is no indication that the administration recognizes any obligations whatever to protect the individual in his constitutional rights." Are there constitutional rights? Are there people who are so shallow that they will listen to the voices of partisanship and who will not weigh the carefully considered language of the most eminent lawyers of this country who regardless of party tell them that their liberties as individuals and business men are in danger?

Remember that Tugwell a confessed State Socialist who is so persuasive and highly influential with the President said in Los Angeles: "We are going to remake America" and "we hope without bloodshed." Does anyone want the Supreme Court so constituted and dominated that it will approve of a law that no person can raise more than five bushels of potatoes without a tax or a permit? Does the business man want to be hobbled by 17,000 regulations enforced by a swarm of 840,000 bureaucrats who in business experience are mere freshmen? Does the citizen who prizes his free speech approve of the threat made last week by Mr. Cummings of the cabinet that he would prosecute the retail butchers who put placards on their meat telling customers the amount of hidden taxes on each piece of meat?

And last but not least, how many Roosevelt enthusiasts have given careful reading to the certified copies of the records of Delaware where certain members of the cabinet filed Articles of Incorporation of six companies under which every business, agricultural, industrial, transportation and distribution down to a peanut stand could at once be taken over by the government. Thus they laid the legal foundations for converting the nation into a State Socialist or Fascist government. No matter what excuse or pretext of emergency they may have had, yet if they had carried out this plan which Senator Schall called "The Most damnable and infamous thing in American history" then only our Supreme Court would have protected us from being Mussolinized to the nth degree. After you have read the certified copies of the records of Delaware ask yourself the question, "Would an administration, no matter what the excuse or pretext, that had considered the destruction of the American system of government, hesitate to bend the Supreme Court to its ends by packing the court with members whose opinions were known in advance? Also ask yourself the question, "Would a President who appointed two pliant and pitiful instruments of Boss Flynn and Boss Dooling to life positions in the Federal Judiciary hesitate to pack the Supreme Court so he could put over what he calls "new instruments of power?"

If it were not for the Supreme Court the Washington coterie of sophisticated satellites would conquer the American people into a big guinea pig upon which all the quack remedies of producing prosperity by scarcity would be tried out. On the occasion of the 149th anniversary of this eminent court the very keystone of our governmental arch which has so well proved the hopes and faith of its authors by remaining more unsullied than any piece of human machinery and which is therefore justly anchored deep in the trust of the body of the people, let us be proud that fortified by the best legal minds of the country it has recently beaten back the waves of socialistic experimentation and let us devoutly hope that this Court, the Court of John Marshall, of Jay, Chase and Hughes shall henceforth cease to be the target of party exigency of popular caprice or executive egotism.

GOOD ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES

There are, of course, many good roads to Los Angeles but some are better than others. We are indebted to Col. Wellington for showing us a way which we think is as good as any. It was rather difficult for us to remember and follow, so we are jotting down a speedometer record for those who care to try it.

Set the speedometer at 0 on North Broadway, at the courthouse, or if the autoist does not care to start from there, set speedometer at 1.3 on the intersection of North Broadway and Route 101.

When the speedometer turns at 4.3, leave 101 on the left fork;

Follow the new road until the speedometer comes to 5.7 and turn left on small detour;

When speedometer reaches 6.7, turn left on Lincoln avenue, Anaheim;

When speedometer reaches 7.1 take right fork on Manchester Blvd. This is Route 10.

Follow Route 10 until speedometer reaches 16.6, then turn right on Route 35, Norwalk Blvd.

When speedometer reaches 18.8, turn left off 35 on Route 6—Anaheim Blvd.

When speedometer reaches 23.7, you will pass under Santa Fe R. R.

Continue to follow 6, until speedometer reaches 25.6 and take left fork, after you pass under cut.

When speedometer reaches 26.8, take left fork and continue to follow Route 6 on Ninth street;

At 28.0 turn right on Eighth street;

At 29.3 turn left on De Soto;

At 29.8 turn left on Whittier Blvd.;

At 30.2 you are at the east end of the viaduct.

Possibly the speedometer of the autoist might overrun these figures a little, as the auto from which this record was taken runs about 1 per cent or 2 per cent farther than the speedometer shows, according to mile-posts.

UNHEEDED THREAT

Just the other day a tragedy wiped out two villages in western Norway. Millions of tons of rock had plunged from a cliff into the lake below, creating a gigantic tidal wave that swept through smiling farm lands along the shore, leaving death and havoc in its wake.

According to the dispatch, "tourists from every part of the world always have marveled at the temerity of the inhabitants, living under the constant threat of death."

That the tourists thus should have marveled is something in itself to be marveled at. As if living under the constant threat of death bothers the average human being! In Europe, in general, Spain in particular, people are going about their daily routine, not knowing when death will arrive in the form of bullets or bombs.

In America we drive our cars at tremendous speeds, and skip blithely across streets thick with traffic, just as oblivious to the lurking Reaper as were those ill-fated Norwegian villagers.

MADRID CHAOTIC

The situation that exists in Madrid is difficult to picture. Every report seems to be that something like a reign of terror now exists there. One evidence of this is the action of Uruguay in breaking off diplomatic relations with the Spanish government on the ground that it is unable to protect the lives of foreigners even when officially in Madrid. Sisters of the Uruguayan consul were brutally killed almost under the eyes of the Madrid authorities.

Maybe Politics Is Helping Business

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

TIRED SCHOOL CHILDREN

In every class there are children too tired to do their best work. Some are so fatigued that they do no work and make no progress. Every teacher knows such children. It is familiar with their languid, lazy movements, their indifferent attention, their poor response. But the teachers cannot do much to help the situation. They meet the children in school and have no power to prevent their illness. Fatigue is illness, and it is caused by poor living habits.

The trouble is most marked in the higher grades. Adolescent boys and girls suffer most from their unattentive management of their daily routine. They want to eat as they feel their appetite's drive, usually toward sandwiches and sweets snatched at odd times. They will push aside the carefully selected school lunch and take a "snack" instead, if they possibly can manage it. Poor eating habits account for a great deal of fatigue in school children in upper grades.

A lack of proper rest accounts for more of it. Children have so much energy that they believe themselves to be tireless. "O, I'm not tired," is their response to every caution. "I don't need to sleep so much," is their reply to a suggestion that late hours are bad. "I can do it easily; I never get tired," is the common reply to a protest against an overfilled day.

One weary youngster whose grades were falling steadily had his Saturday so filled that it spilled over into Sunday. He was to rise at six o'clock in the morning, hurry to the corner where his friend was waiting with the car, motor sixty miles to a country home where breakfast was served. Ride with the party over hill and dale until lunch time, swim, dress, have lunch, play in a tennis tournament, have tea at a road-house, and dance between bites, motor back to the house, bathe and dress for dinner, go on to a dance which would last until morning and motor home again. "O, that's nothing. I could do that every day."

Another young person, of scholastic mind, had filled his days to overflowing with study. He was not content to take a full course, but added specials to it so that he had no time for recreation. No parties for him, no exercise beyond what he grudgingly performed in the gym. "I can't waste any time. I need to learn all there is to be known, and the sooner the better for me. No, of course I'm not tired. I like it." But he was losing weight. His work showed more than the usual number of errors, and these errors were increasing. His temper was irritable and his eating habits were deplorable. The two usually go together.

These are two extremes taken from a great number of fatigue cases. Between them lies a big group of tired young people working under difficulties, fighting against fatigue, longing to get away from work and find relief. They must be helped to see that only by husbanding their resources can they hope to last through college years and arrive at any worthwhile end. Health makes work a joyous privilege. Fatigue makes it a treadmill. Health makes for accurate successful and original work. Fatigue kills all that. Programs for adolescents must take this under consideration.

After supper pop was smoking and thinking and ma was reading, saying, Well, this seems to be the proverbial embarrassment of riches. I saved the book review section of the Sunday paper because I have nothing to read at the moment and I thaw I'd get a few hints from what the critics have to say about the latest books, and it seems quite a number of really remarkable novels have been published lately. Just think, if it wasn't for the critics we wouldn't know a good book from a bad one unless we read it first. They certainly perform a valuable public service, ma said.

From what I understand, a good many people just read what the critics have to say and never even bother opening a book themselves, pop said, and ma said, Here's a review of Loam Sweet Loam. It says, Not for many a year has there appeared a tale of country life to equal Loam Sweet Loam for downright uncompromising smack of the soil and sheer artistry of expression.

It sounds like a good book, pop said, and ma said, I'm torn between that and Dog Eats Dog. Just listen, Willyum, Dog Eats Dog is one of the few really great books of our generation, it lays bare the human soul as no writer has done since Dustyuffy, she said, and pop said, That's quite a compliment, I admit.

Then there's Science Down the Ages, ma said. This article says, a person's education hasn't even started if they haven't read Science Down the Ages by Professor Agnew Withers, but of course it's not fiction, she said, and pop said, Maybe some of it is, who knows?

O dear, how is a body to choose, a person can't read everything, ma said. Maud Hews told me that the latest Van Oppen merder mystery is quite exciting, although it's not up to Van Oppen's best by any means. I think I'll buy it, it's called The 4 Red Fingers, ma said, and pop said, 3 cheers for literature, yee gods. And he got behind the sporting page.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

FAILURE OF THE INTELLECTUALS

In all the turmoil of the time, to me the most tragic casualty is the almost complete failure of the intellectuals to live up to their historic mission.

Intelligence never over-simplifies.

Intelligence never goes single-track.

Intelligence never is extremist.

Intelligence plays always for unity.

Intelligence refuses to choose between things that are not real alternatives.

Intelligence declines to throw away values to win a transient victory.

Are tradition and change in vivid conflict?

Are the hunger for freedom and the need for authority at variance?

Are liberty and equality working against each other?

It is the historic mission of intelligence to effect a working reconciliation that salvages the utmost feasible values of both tradition and change, freedom and authority, liberty and equality.

It is not the business of intelligence to make an easy choice, plumping for tradition against change or change against tradition, for freedom against authority or authority against freedom, for equality against liberty.

And yet this is what the intellectuals, in the main, are today doing the world over.

As I put it some time ago in this column, the tired intellectuals have gone reactionary and the impatient intellectuals have gone radical, and both groups are over-simplifying, going single-track, playing extremist, fostering disunity, choosing between things that are not real alternatives, and throwing away precious values to gain transient victories.

This is the treason of the intellectuals.

An Open Letter TO THE PRESIDENT

EDITOR'S NOTE: Inasmuch as President Roosevelt, in his forum talk at the Herald-Tribune, New York, claimed that logic should be used instead of partisanship in this campaign, we feel it would be timely to reproduce the following article, which questions very severely the logic of President Roosevelt's Speech of Acceptance at Philadelphia. The article speaks for itself.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT

Written by Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Professor of Economics, Vanderbilt University, a dirt farmer, Consulting Economist, Southern States Industrial Council.

Ridgetop, Tenn., July 13, 1936.
To the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States.

Dear Mr. President:

In your Philadelphia address, you compare the organization you are leading to the American revolutionists of 1776. According to your claim you are leading a second American revolution against the tyranny of a small group of economic royalists, who have "carved a new dynasty" in this country and built a new kingdom upon the concentration and control over material things. In describing this tyranny over American business when you came into power you make the following statements:

"Through new uses of the corporation . . . the structure of modern life was impressed into the royal service. They (the royalists—American business leaders) created a new despotism and wrapped it in robes of legal sanction. In its service new mercenaries sought to regiment the people, their labor and their property."

"There was no place among this royalty for our many thousands of small business men and merchants who sought to make a worthy use of the American system of initiative and profit. They were no more free than the worker or the farmer. Those who tilled the soil no longer reaped the rewards which were their right. The small measure of their gains was decreed by men in distant cities. Throughout the nation opportunity was limited by monopoly. Individual initiative was crushed in the cogs of a great machine. The field open for free business was more and more restricted."

No intelligent socialist nor communist, perhaps, ever made a more sweeping condemnation of American Constitutional freedom than you made in your address. Your address will be hailed in all lands by radicals as the strongest evidence that American industrial freedom has been a miserable failure.

As an American citizen, I think I am within my rights in asking you to make public the specific facts on which you make your most serious charges against the leaders of American business. I would remind you that Jefferson, in submitting the Declaration of Independence for approval, gave thirty-five specific grounds on which he based his conclusion. I would also call your judicial notice to the fact that one of the chief grounds on which he urged war on George III was as follows:

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out our substance." If Jefferson had looked in on the Philadelphia Convention and beheld the "swarm" of office holders in charge, his comments would have been interesting. It was reported that 64 per cent of the 2000 delegates in that convention were of office holders. Such a "swarm" might move a man of Jefferson's ideals to say: "This is not a convention of the Democratic Party. This is the convention of the F. O. P.—The Federal Officeholders Party."

A fair interpretation of your description of what has taken place in this country under constitutional industrial freedom is as follows:

1. The control of the whole of American business—manufacturing, transportation, trade, agriculture—everything has passed into the hands of a small group of very rich men. This group you describe as an economic dynasty of royalists.

2. This economic dynasty rules with an iron hand in every field of business activity. These royalists have crushed individual initiative in the cogs of the great machine that they have created for their own selfish purposes.

They have denied any place in American business anywhere for the many thousands of small business men and merchants who sought to make a worthy use of the American system of initiative and profit. These "economic royalists" who reside in "distant cities" have robbed the six million farmers in this country of the right to produce and obtain for their commodities on the open markets what belongs to them. The small measure of gains, you state, they received was arbitrarily decreed for them by "the royalists in distant cities."

3. Throughout the nation, opportunity was limited by monopoly, and individual initiative was crushed. This means that the "economic royalists" hold and exercise a monopoly control over the business of the whole country.

In the first place, I will ask you to name some of these "economic royalists" who are crushing the weak in every field of business, robbing the farmers of that which belongs to them, and robbing defenseless workers of their earnings at will. If we could recognize these highwaymen we might be able to hide some of our small earnings under a rock on their approach. Is Henry Ford the leader of the gang? He has done much injury to the country. He has turned over enough money to the federal government in taxes to build a concrete highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and another from the lakes to the gulf. He has given employment to hundreds of thousands of workers at high wages, and put a high-class automobile within the reach of the poor man. But he is public enemy number one, and must be crushed. You call upon American citizens to fall in behind the great unselfish patriot, Jim Farley, the George Washington of your revolution, to crush Ford and the other enemies of our industrial life. The new Washington has had a distinguished career in great unselfish service to the American people. For a long time he was active in New York City politics, and finally achieved the great distinction of prize fight commissioner. It is difficult to estimate how much the ex-prize ring commissioner has contributed to this country in unselfish patriotic service. He is an ideal leader for such a revolution as you are promoting.

The General Electric Company is one of the great corporations in this country, and has been doing an enormous business in selling equipment for electric power development. This company, of course, is prominent among the economic royalists. One of the leading newspapers in this country published the names of stockholders in this royalist corporation some time ago and you and your family were recorded as among the largest stockholders. Is it possible that you are one of the royalists against whom Farley is soon to lead his army of office-holders and pulmonary patriots?

Your declaration that the business of this country is controlled by powerful monopolies that crush everyone that gets in their way is difficult to understand. There are very rigid federal laws against monopolies, and you are the chief executive. Why don't you give the facts to the attorney-general instead of broadcasting them to a political convention on the eve of an election? You have been in office nearly four years and in all this time not a single monopoly has been indicted. The inevitable conclusion from your attitude is that either you have no facts against these supposed monopolies or you don't want to see them indicted.
